National Nominations Made

Indiana Republican State Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, February 22.—In the Republican State Convention, to-day, the following nominations were made: For Secretary of State, W. W. Curry, of Vigo county, on the first ballot; Auditor of State, A. Wildman, Howard county; Treasurer of State, John B. Glover, of Lawrence county; Reporter of Supreme Court, Colonel James B. Black, of Warren county; Clerk of Supreme Court, Charles Schall, of Clark county; Superintendent of Public Instruction, W. B. Smith, of Marion county; and Attorney General, James C. Denny, of Knox county.

Hon. Godlove S. Orth, of Tippecanoe county, General Benj. Harrison, of Indianapolis, Gen. Thomas Browne, of Randolph county, were put in nomination for Governor, resulting in the choice of Gen. Browne on the second ballot. For Lieutenant Governor, Leonidas Sexton was nominated on the second ballot. For Congressman at large, Hon. Godlove S. Orth received the nomination on the first ballot.

The committee to nominate delegates to the Republican National Convention and Presidential electors for the State at large reported the following names: Electors—Gen. Nathan Kimball, Hon. J. S. Buckler, Capt. John Schwartz, Hon. W. A. Woods. Delegates to the National Convention—Gov. Conrad Baker, Hon. S. Lane and Geo. R. Steele. The report was unanimously concurred in. The Committee on Platform and Resolutions reported the following:

The Republicans of Indiana, by their delegates in convention assembled, in appealing once more to the people of the State for the support of their candidates for public office, declare:

First—That in the future, as in the past, we will adhere to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, and firmly sustain the Constitution of the United States as the true basis of popular freedom, and will maintain the equal rights of all men before the law, and the authority of the National Government against all false theories of State rights.

Second—That we therefore approve of the acts of Congress and of the administration which puts the rights of all citizens under the protection of national authority, when they are assailed by hostile legislation or by the violence of armed associations, whether open or secret; and we demand the enforcement of the laws that these rights may be securely and amply protected, wherever and whenever invaded.

Third.—That we congratulate the country on the complete restoration of the Union, and now, as heretofore, remember with gratitude our brave soldiers and seamen who imperilled their lives in their country's service and saved the nation in the hour of her peril, and declare that our obligations to them shall never be forgotten; and also demand that bounties shall be paid without cost to the recipients, and that the widows and orphans of the fallen dead, the wards of the nation, shall receive the nation's protection; and while cheerfully assuming all these burdens, we cannot forget, and the American people cannot forget, that to the Democratic party and the South we owe all the calamities of the late slaveholders' rebellion.

Fourth—That we endorse the action of Congress and the administration in maintaining the traditionary policy of the nation of living in friendly relations with other Governments, yet avoiding entangling alliances with them, as is evidenced in checking hostile expeditions from our shores; refusing to interfere in domestic revolutions, even where our sympathies are strongly enlisted, and agreeing to the arbitration of disputed claims, while demanding redress for wrong done.

Fifth—That we approve of the action of Congress, and of the present administration, in all their efforts to reduce expenditures in the several departments, and in the reduction of the tariff and internal taxes as rapidly as the exigencies of the Government will permit, while continuing to maintain the public credit by the sure and gradual payment of the debt of the nation, and by discharging the obligation due our soldiers, sailors and pensioners.

Sixth—That we favor all efforts looking to the development of the great industries of the State, and that we request our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their influence in any revision of the tariff, to secure the coal and iron interests in our State all incidental protection consistent with a due regard to the principles of reducing the burden of taxation.

Seventh—That the adherence of Congress and the administration to the present financial policy, in spite of the hostility of political opponents, has been fully justified by the security and increased confidence it has given to all the business affairs of the country.

Eighth—That the financial affairs of the State and nation should be conducted on principles of economy; useless offices should be abolished and salaries limited to fair compensation; we recommend the abolition of the offices of State Agent and State Printer.

Ninth—That we oppose further grants of public lands to railroads or other corporations, and demand that the public domain be reserved for the use of actual settlers, and the obligations of the country to its brave defenders, and for purposes of general education.

Tenth—That Congress ought to interfere for the protection of immigrants, to shield them from the unjust exactions levied upon them in the shape of capital and taxes under the laws of New York and other seaboard States, the true policy of the country being to extend a civil invitation to the citizens of other countries to cast their lot with us and share on perfect terms of equality the blessings which we enjoy.

Eleventh—That we approve of the efforts being made for the vindication of honest government by the exposure, removal and punishment of corrupt officials, whether in municipalities, State or nation, and announce unrelenting hostility to all attempts by corporation monopolies or conventions to influence elections or the Legislature of the State by the use of corrupt means.

Twelfth—That as a general dissemination of knowledge and learning among the people is essential to the existence of a free republic, we hold the public free schools to be a safe guard of our liberties, and pledge ourselves to cherish and maintain them.

Thirteenth—That we are in favor of such a revision of our criminal code as will secure the more speedy and effectual administration of justice, and such a wise and judicious legislation as will enforce individual responsibility for all acts affecting public interests.

Fourteenth—That the efforts now being made by the workingmen of the nation to improve their own condition, and more completely to vindicate their independence as a class to subordination, meet our cordial approbation; and for proof that the Republican party is the true friend of the laborer, we point to the fact that while opposing all attempts to array capital and labor against each other, as mutually destructive, it has been by the efforts of the party that labor was emancipated from the ownership of capital, free homesteads provided for settlers of the public domain, the hours of labor reduced, and complete equality of rights established before the law; and therefore we invite the workingmen to seek whatever further advantage or amelioration they desire within the embrace of the party liberty or equality.

Fifteenth—That we favor the adoption of the amendment to the State Constitution proposed by the last Legislature, to prohibit the State from assuming or paying the canal debt which was charged exclusively on the Wabash and Erie Canal under the legislation of 1846.

Sixteenth—That we endorse the administration of Governor Conrad Baker, and applaud the firm, able and courteous manner in which he has discharged the duties of his high office.

Seventeenth—That our Senators and Republican members in Congress deserve the approbation of their constituents for the firm, able and energetic manner in which they have discharged their duties.

Eighteenth—That the administration of General Grant has been consistent with the principles of the Republican party, and eminently just, wise and humane, and such as fulfills his pledges and deserves our support; and therefore we instruct our delegates to the National Convention to vote for the renomination of Grant and Colfax as our candidates for President and Vice President.

The resolutions were adopted amid deafening cheers and applause, but one single negative vote being given. The proceedings of the Convention were harmonious throughout.

Missouri Republican State Convention.

ST. LOUIS, February 22.—The Democrat's Jefferson City special says that the city was packed last night with delegates and visitors to the Republican State Convention, which met to-day. The best men in the State are here, and for respectability and intelligence the Convention was never equalled in the State. The Convention was called to order at noon by Gen. Isaac T. Sheppard, Chairman of the State Central Committee. Hon. R. T. Van Horn will probably be elected temporary Chairman.

JEFFERSON CITY, February 22—Upon the reassembling of the Convention in the afternoon, as the committees were not ready to report, Hon. John H. Stowe was requested to make an explanation to the Convention of the manner in which he got into the New York Tribune in connection with Col. Grosvenor. He replied by stating that there could be but two political parties in Missouri, Republican and Democrat—and declared himself for the Republican party.

The Committee on Credentials then reported upon delegates, and showed the members present to be over six hundred.

The Committee on Permanent Organization reported through its chairman, Gov. E. O. Stanard, for President, Hon. George H. Shields, of Marion, with one Vice President from each Congressional district, and five Secretaries. The report was adopted.

Upon taking the chair Mr. Shields addressed the convention briefly, returning thanks for the honor conferred, and stated the doctrine of the party to be favorable to civil service reform and general amnesty. He stated that the motto of the party was universal amnesty for all, even the arch traitor himself, thus effacing forever all traces of the civil war.

Mr. Shields also advocated the successful treaty with England and civil service reform as the results of Republican rule.

Upon a resolution, each Congressional delegation nominated three delegates and three alternates to the National Republican Convention, and the chairman and the various delegates nominated three delegates and three alternates from the State at large, after which Convention adjourned until 7:30 P. M.

Evening Session.—The Committee on Resolutions reported the following platform, which was unanimously adopted:

We, the Republicans of the Republican party of the State of Missouri, in convention assembled, declare as follows:

First—We congratulate the people of Missouri, and the United States, that the principles of the Republican party, as enunciated by the National Convention of 1868, and which have determined the internal and foreign policy of our Government, have realized the blessings of peace and prosperity at home, and the honor, stability and power of the American Republic among the nations of the world; and we reaffirm our adherence to those principles.

Second—We heartily endorse the present national administration, its conduct of national affairs, and point with patriotic pride to its great and lasting achievements; it has given the country peace and prosperity; it has fulfilled the pledge that the will of the people should be the paramount law of action; it has established the credit of the country on a firm financial basis by a steady adherence to the obligations of plighted faith, enhanced the value of public securities and appreciated the National currency to the verge of the gold standard; it has reduced the public debt beyond all precedent, and at the same time relieved the industry of the country from the vast burden of taxation necessarily imposed upon the people for the preservation of the republic; it has rebuked corruption and dishonesty wherever found to exist, and with firm and unsparing justice it has meted out punishment wherever the law has declared punishment to be due; it corrected the abuse and chronic evils inherited from the past; it has inaugurated and made a zealous endeavor to secure a practical and efficient civil service reform; it has adopted a successful and humane Indian policy; it has executed with a firm hand the will of the people as expressed in the Constitution and laws of Congress; and, finally, it has negotiated a treaty with Great Britain for the settlement of an intricate and threatening complication, which is no less glorious as a vindication of the honor of the American flag than it is distinguished in establishing a great and Christian principle of international law.

Third—That inasmuch as the discouraging elements in other States are now looking to Missouri for a confirmation of their hopes of divisions in our ranks, we take this occasion to proclaim to the Republicans of the nation that the party in this State is now united, vigorous and enthusiastic; there is no cause for schisms; and there is no schism, in that it will poll the full Republican vote of the State for the nominees of the National Republican Convention; that the present so-called Liberal Republican faction, considered apart from the Democratic party, as it should not be, is contemptible in members, too feeble to organize, and too cunning to expose its weakness by a separate organization—a new clique of disaffected persons seeking to perpetuate a division, which is now utterly powerless with the endorsement of a respectable minority of the Republicans, and powerless to embarass the party.

Fourth—We declare our unswerving confidence in the integrity, patriotism and zealous devotion to public interests of the present Chief Magistrate of the nation; we pledge ourselves and the Republican party to abide by, support and carry to victory the platform and candidates presented to the people by the National Convention to be assembled at Philadelphia, on the 5th of June.

Fifth—In our opinion the true policy of the Government toward those lately in rebellion against its authority is general and universal amnesty; to this end we endorse the recommendation of the President of the United States in his last annual message to Congress.

After the adoption of the platform, the usual vote of thanks was passed, and the convention adjourned, and resolved itself into a mass meeting.

National Labor Convention.

COLUMBUS, February 22.—The National Labor Convention reassembled at ten o'clock this morning, and spent much time in discussing the question of admitting as a delegate, James Kilgore, as a representative of the International Section, No. 26, of Pennsylvania. He was finally admitted as part of the Pennsylvania delegation. The Committee on the Platform made their report, the financial plank of which was discussed until the noon recess.

Afternoon Session.—The Convention reassembled at two o'clock. The Committee on Platform reported for adoption resolutions, which were taken up seriatum, and adopted. The preamble declares as follows:

We hold that all political power is inherent in the people, and a free government formed on their authority or established for their benefit; that all citizens are equal in political rights; are entitled to the largest religious and political liberty compatible with the good order of society, as also the use and enjoyment of the fruits of their labor and talents, and no man or set of men are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments and privileges from the Government but in consideration of public services, and any laws destructive of these fundamental principles are without moral binding force, and should be repealed; and we believe that all evils resulting from unjust legislation now affecting the industrial classes can be removed by the adoption of the principles contained in the following declaration:

First—That it is the duty of the Government to establish a just standard of the distribution of capital and labor by providing a purely national circulating medium, based on the faith and resources of the nation, issued directly to the people without the intervention of any system of banking corporations, which money shall be a legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, interchangeable at the option of the holder for Government bonds, bearing a rate of interest not to exceed 3.75 per cent., subject to future legislation by Congress.

Second—That the national debt should be paid in good faith, according to the original contract, at the earliest option of the Government, without mortgaging the property of the people and the future earnings of labor, to enrich a few capitalists at home and abroad.

Third—That justice demands that the burdens of the Government should be adjusted so as to bear equally on all classes and interests, and that the exemption from taxation of Government bonds bearing extortionate rates of interest is a violation of all just principles of the revenue laws.

Fourth—That the public lands of the United States belong to the people, and should not be sold to individuals or to companies, but be held for the benefit of landless settlers, in amounts not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres.

Fifth—That Congress should modify the tariff so as to admit free such articles of common use as we can neither produce nor grow, and lay the duties for the revenue mainly upon articles of luxury and upon such articles of manufacture as, we having the raw material in abundance, will assist in further developing the resources of the country.

Sixth—That the importation of Chinese laborers is an evil, and should be prohibited by legislation.

Seventh—That we ask for the enactment of a law by which mechanics and laborers employed by Government contractors and municipalities shall not be compelled to perform more than eight hours labor per day.

Eighth—That we demand the abolition of contract labor in prisons.

Ninth—That we declare in favor of assessing and collecting war taxes during the progress of war, instead of leaving the debt on our posterity.

Tenth—That we call for Congressional legislation to prevent exorbitant charges by railroads and telegraphs.

Eleventh—That we declare in favor of the one-term principle.

Twelfth—That we favor Federal amnesty and equality of rights and privileges to all.

Mr. Elliott, of New York, offered the following:

WHEREAS, capitalists and monopolizers of the products of industry can, by concentration of action, withdraw their patronage from any branches of industry, and thereby subject them to privation and want, thus compelling them from necessity to accept just such terms as they may chance to dictate; therefore,

Resolved, That our system of government be so amended as to empower the Government to institute branches of industry, and furnish employment to all its people in the community, on equitable terms of time and compensation; and to prevent our representatives and legislators from assuming the character of masters, instead of servants of the people, we establish the principle of the "referendum," by which the people may retain the sovereign power, and may be convened semi-annually to ratify and reject the acts of their public servants.

J. T. Elliott, Secretary of the International Society of America, spoke in favor of the resolution.

H. H. Day, of New York, also supported the resolution. He said the people demand this action.

Alex. Troup Conner spoke in favor of the "referendum" portion of the resolution. He argued that the veto power should be in the hands of the people.

This resolution was then referred to the Committee on Platform, who soon reported it back with a report that they considered it inexpedient to endorse the spirit of the resolution. The report of the committee was then agreed to—58 to 14. The platform, as a whole, was then agreed to.

Horace H. Day, of New York, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the true labor reform of to-day knows no difference between race, color or sex or nationality, and we believe in equal rights and equal suffrage for all.

The resolution was laid on the table by a heavy vote.

Mr. Schell, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution recommending that the several State conventions appoint State committees, with authority to confer with other political parties that may adopt the nominee of this convention, and to arrange a fair apportionment of electors among all said organizations. This resolution was also laid on the table.

The Committee on Platform reported the following additional planks for the platform:

Resolved, That we demand the subjection of the military to the civil authorities, and the confinement of its operations to national purposes alone.

Resolved, That we deem it expedient for Congress to supervise the patent laws so as to give labor more fully the benefit of its ideas or inventions.

Resolved, That fitness, and not political or personal considerations, should be the only recommendation to public office, either appointive or elective, and any and all laws looking to the establishment of these principles are hereby approved.

These resolutions were adopted without debate.

Mr. Taylor, of New York, offered a resolution declaring that the paramount object of the Labor party was to draw to itself men of all political parties, that it was incumbent on the representatives of labor reform to make their selection of candidates from among those men who are identified with the labor reform movement, by having indorsed the labor reform platform, and have no connection with any other political party.

Several delegates urged the adoption of this resolution on the ground that this would relieve the labor movement of the odium now attached to it from the fact that it was claimed that this third party movement was merely a tail to either the Republican or Democratic party.

The other delegates urged that the resolution was a bite in the mouths of the delegates, and should be defeated. The resolution was lost.

Mr. Cameron, of Kansas, said he was instructed by his State to move that the nomination of President be postponed until May. Not agreed to.

The nomination of candidates for President being next in order, the names of John W. Geary, of Pennsylvania, George W. Julian, of Indiana, John M. Palmer, of Illinois, Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, David Davis, of Illinois, George Francis Train, of the world, Wendell Phillips, of Massachusetts, Horace Greeley, of New York, Joel M. Parker, of New Jersey, Peter Cooper and H. H. Day, of New York, and Richard Trevelick, of Michigan, were presented as candidates for this nomination. The names of Greeley, Ewing, Cooper, Day and Trevelick were withdrawn, and an informal ballot was taken, which resulted as follows: Geary, 55; Day, 59; Davis, 47; Phillips, 13; Palmer, 8; Julian, 6; and Parker, 7.

The Convention went into the first formal ballot, which resulted as follows: Whole vote cast, 301; Davis, 88; Phillips, 52; Geary, 45; Day, 8; Parker, 7; Julian, 1—no choice.

Geary's name was then withdrawn. Gratz Brown, of Missouri, and Horace Greeley were nominated. The second ballot was then taken, and resulted: Davis, 93; Day, 59; Phillips, 12; Brown, 14; Greeley, 11; Parker, 7; Julian, 5.

The names of Phillips, Greeley, Julian and Brown were now withdrawn. The third ballot resulted: Davis, 201; Parker, 7; Day, 3. The nomination of David Davis, of Illinois, was then made unanimous, and a telegram sent to him asking him to accept the nomination.

The nomination of Vice President being next in order, the names of Joel Parker, of New Jersey, Edwin M. Cumberlain, of Connecticut, A. M. West, of Mississippi, Thos. Ewing, of Ohio, and W. G. Bryan, of Tennessee, were presented. An informal ballot resulted: Parker, 90; Chamberlain, 79; West, 18; Ewing, 81; Bryan, 10. The first formal ballot was then taken, and resulted: Parker, 112; Chamberlain, 57; Ewing, 22. Parker's nomination was then made unanimous.

After appointing a committee to wait on the nominees, and an executive committee of one from each State, the Convention adjourned, subject to the call of the National Executive Committee.

National Prohibition Convention.

COLUMBUS, February 22.—The National Prohibition Mass Convention met here this morning in Comstock's Opera House. One hundred and ninety-four delegates were present from nine States. Rev. John Russell, Chairman of the National Convention, called the Convention to order. The Hon. G. T. Stewart, of Ohio, welcomed the delegates in a few remarks, urging the adoption of a platform that should place them before the country in no uncertain position. Hon. Henry Fish, of Michigan, was chosen as temporary Chairman, and Elroy M. Avery, of Ohio, Secretary. After the appointment of the usual committees, a permanent organization was effected by electing the following officers:

President—Hon. Samuel Chase.

Vice Presidents—Milton Kennedy, Ohio; Rev. F. W. Dennison, District of Columbia; F. L. Smith, Illinois; Hon. Samuel Mayole, Minnesota; Chas. P. Russell, Michigan.

Secretaries—Elroy M. Avery, Ohio; G. T. McFarland, Minnesota, and J. W. McFarland, Illinois.

Mr. Chase thanked the Convention in a few remarks, declaring that the persons present were justified in meeting in convention and forming a new party, because both the Republican and Democratic parties ignored the question of temperance.

A recess was now taken.

The National Prohibition Convention reassembled at two o'clock. While the Committee on Platform were preparing a report, speeches were made by Mr. Bradford and Mrs. Goff, of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Swisshelm. A dispatch was sent to the Catholic Temperance Convention in session at Baltimore, expressing a kindly greeting.

The Committee on Platform made their report. After a long discussion the resolutions were adopted at the afternoon and evening session. The preamble recites that protection and allegiance are reciprocal duties, and every citizen who yields obediently to the just commands of the Government is entitled to full, free and perfect protection of that Government, in the full enjoyment of personal security, personal liberty and private property, and that the traffic in intoxicating drinks greatly impairs the personal security and personal liberty of a large mass of citizens, and renders private property insecure; and that all political parties are hopelessly unwilling to adopt an adequate policy on this question; therefore as a National Convention we adopt the following principles:

First—That while we acknowledge the pure patriotism and profound statesmanship of that patriot who laid the foundation of this Government, securing at once the rights of States severally and their inseperable union by the Federal Constitution, we would not merely garnish the sepulchres of our Republican fathers, but we do hereby renew our solemn pledges of fealty to the imperishable principles of civil and religious liberty embodied in the Declaration of American Independence and our federal constitution that the traffic in intoxicating beverage is a dishonor to Christian civilization, inimical to the best interests of society, a political wrong of unequaled enormity subversive of the ordinary objects of government, not capable of being regulated or restrained by any system of license whatever, but imperatively demanding for its suppression, effective legal prohibition, both by State and national legislation.

The resolutions declare that there can be no greater peril to nations than the existing party competition for the liquor vote; that any party not openly opposed to the traffic, experience shows, will engage in this competition, will court the favors of the criminal classes, will barter away public morals, the purity of the ballot, and every object of good government for party success; that, as prohibitionists, we will individually use all our efforts to persuade men from the use of intoxicating liquor; that all persons are invited to assist this movement; that competence, honesty and sobriety are indispensable qualifications for holding office; that removals from public office for mere political difference of opinion are wrong; that fixed and moderate salaries of officers should take the place of fees and perquisites, and that all means be taken to prevent corruption and encourage economy; that the President and Vice President should be elected directly by the people; that we are in favor of a sound national currency, adequate to the demands of business, and convertible into gold and silver at the will of the holder, and the adoption of every measure compatible with justice and public safety to appreciate our present currency to a gold standard; that the vote of ocean and inland postage and railroad and telegraph lines and water transportation should be made as low as possible by law; that we are opposed to all discrimination in favor of capital against labor; as well as all monopoly and class legislation; that removal of the burdens imposed on the traffic in intoxicating drinks will emancipate labor, and will practically promote labor reform; that suffrage should be granted to all persons without regard to sex; that the fostering and extension of common schools is the primary duty of the Government; and that a liberal policy should be pursued to promote foreign investigations.

The nomination for President being in order, a number of names were presented, among them David Davis, of Illinois, Chief Justice Chase, B. F. Butler, James Black, of Pennsylvania, Garrett Smith, J. D. Cox, and Horace Greeley. All these names were referred to a special committee who reported the names of James Black, of Pennsylvania, for President and John Russel, of Michigan, for Vice President. The report was unanimously agreed to.

The Convention adjourned sine die at 10:30 P. M.

MINNESOTA.

Severe Weather,

ST. PAUL, February 22.—The severe storm which swept over the State on Tuesday of last week was attended with serious casualties. Near Beaver Falls, a lady, in the absence of her husband, endeavored to go to the barn and care for the stock. She was accompanied by her sister, seventeen years of age. They left two children in the house alone. Three days afterward the husband, on returning, found the children upon the bed, covered with snow, and just alive; and learning from them of the absence of the two women, went in search. The young lady was found about a half mile from the house, and the wife over a mile out on the prairie. Several other fatal cases of freezing are reported in the vicinity of Windam.

Vandalism of a New York Judge.

A New York Times reporter called yesterday on Mr. B. Waterhouse Hawkins in order to ascertain the truth of the allegations made in a communication which appeared in yesterday's Times in reference to the destruction of his restorations in the Central Park Museum. Mr. Hawkins stated that all he had done during twenty-one months to restore the skeletons of the extinct animals of America, (of the Hadrosaurus, and the other gigantic animal, which was thirty-nine feet long,) was destroyed by order of Mr. Henry Hilton, on the 3d of May last, with sledge-hammer, and carted away to Mount St. Vincent, where the remains were buried several feet below the surface. The prepatory sketches of other animals, including a mammoth and a mastodon and the molds and sketch models were destroyed. Mr. Hilton did this, said Mr. Hawkins, out of ignorance, just as he had a coat of white paint put on the skeleton of a whale which Mr. Peter Cooper had presented to the Museum, and just as he had a bronze statue painted white. Mr. Hilton told the celebrated naturalist who had come from England to undertake the work that he should not bother himself with "dead animals," that there was plenty to do among the living. This illustrates the policy of having such ignorant men as Hilton at the head of one of the most important departments of City Government. When the skeletons were dug up again, by order of Colonel Stebbins, they were found broken in thousands of pieces. Prof. Henry, of the Smithsonian Institute, when he heard of this piece of barbarism, would not believe it. "Why," he exclaimed, "I would have paid them a good price for it." Mr. Hilton, however, preferred to destroy the work of the naturalist which has cost the city at least $12,000.

THE CAPITAL.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22, 1872.

INCOME TAX BLANKS.

The Internal Revenue office has commenced sending out blanks for the income tax for the past year.

OBSERVANCE OF THE DAY.

All the offices of the General District Government are closed, national flags are flying over all public places, many private residences are adorned with evergreens and miniature flags, and the day is generally observed as a holiday.

ARRIVAL OF CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

Hon. Charles Francis Adams arrived here this morning. He states that he was in Naples when letters reached him which induced him to return home, solely on private business. Until he reached Geneva he was unaware of the new controversy with reference to the Alabama claim matter.

BILLS TO BE REPORTED.

The Committee on Commerce have agreed to report a bill for the construction of a bride over the Ohio at a point between Evansville and Mount Vernon, Indiana; also a bill for the construction of a bridge over the Mississippi river, near Brownsville, Nebraska, and over Lake St. Croix at Hudson, Wisconsin; also a bill for the relief of Mr. Maun, postmaster at Chicago, who sustained losses by the late fire.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

The barometer will probably continue to rise, with cold north-west winds and clear weather in the Middle and Eastern States for Friday; a falling barometer and rising temperature prevail by Friday morning from the lower lakes to the Missouri, and northwestward, increasing to southerly, winds, and threatening weather extend by Friday noon throughout the upper Mississippi valley, with possibly high south east winds in the Southern and Gulf States. Dangerous winds are not anticipated for the Atlantic and gulf coasts on Thursday night.

A GREYHOUND, being half starved and wholly disgusted with Louisville, where an unkind fate had placed him, ran to the ice clad river, and, after some natural hesitation, in he plunged boldly, not caring a particle how coldly la belle riviere ran. The sad affair is wrapped in what is pretty generally known as a panoply of mystery, and as yet no one has discovered who was his father or even his mother, and the existence of brothers, sisters and nearer and dearer ones, though very probable, has not been definitely ascertained.

JAMES IMBRIE MILLER, the eldest son of the eminent engineer, the late Edward Miller, of Philadelphia, who went to India in 1869 in the service of the government in that country, to introduce some of the peculiarities of American railroads, supposed to be especially adapted to that country, has been appointed, according to the Gazette of India, chief engineer of the State Railways of Central India, with the brevet rank (so our authority says) of lieutenant colonel of Royal Engineers of twenty-eight years' service.

—The fast train west on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, while running at a good speed on Monday morning, ran into a heavy fall of rocks sixty miles east of Parkersburg, Va. The engine and baggage car were hurled down an embankment and several passenger cars were thrown from the track. J. Dorsey, engineer, was instantly killed and the fireman was severely injured. The passengers escaped with slight injuries.

—A fire at Selin's Grove, on Wednesday night, destroyed thirteen dwellings, five stores, a Baptist church and twelve stables and barns. Loss $100,000.

—At Scranton, O'Connor, the Delaware and Lackawanna Railway embezzler, was jailed, being unable to give bail.

IMPORTANT PUBLIC MEETING.

Elsewhere this morning we publish a correspondence between a large number of influential citizens and Hon. James Blackmore, Mayor of the city, endorsing the efforts of General James S. Negley in Congress, in the matter of securing an appropriation for the erection of public buildings in Pittsburgh for the transaction of the Court and other United States business in this district. The Mayor responds to the prayer of the petitioners by calling a meeting of citizens to assemble at his office, on Saturday afternoon next, at three o'clock, to officially take action on the subject, and to appoint a suitable committee to visit Washington and lay before the proper authorities the urgent necessity existing for the erection of such buildings. We hope the meeting will be fully attended, and that our people will speak out in earnest on the question. If the efforts of General Negley are not aided and sustained, Pittsburgh may not get the appropriation, and it is for this reason that our citizens should act promptly in the matter and lend all possible influence towards securing the much needed improvements. All citizens of the district are earnestly invited to attend the meeting.

THE GRAY-MCCLURE contested election committee, meets to-day in Philadelphia, and will begin at once to hear testimony. The indications are that the whole matter will be referred back to the voters of the IVth district, where it properly belongs.

WE HAVE received from the publishers, a copy of the New York World Almanac for 1872. Its reputation as a useful and reliable compendium of facts, dates, and figures, has been well established, and the present issue is fully up to its predecessors.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS states that there is nothing which leads him to think the Washington Treaty will prove a failure. England is disinclined for war, and the excitement was caused wholly by outside influences. Our case will not be withdrawn, but will stand or fall on the decision of the Geneva arbitrators. Gladstone has modified his tone, in fact withdrawn his hasty and ill-tempered words.

SENATOR GRAHAM informs us that State Agent Evans has been lying in a precarious condition of health at his home in Philadelphia, but is now better. In consequence of his inability to attend the sittings of the committee at Harrisburg, a meeting has been called at the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, on Tuesday next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Mr. Evans will be able to attend at that time, if he continues to grow better.

IT IS ANNOUNCED that the House Committee on Naval Affairs have at last agreed to report a bill, giving the officers and crew of the Kearsarge, the amount of prize money which would have been due them, had they not hit the Rebel pirate Alabama hard enough to send her to the bottom of the ocean. Had they only disabled her and towed her ashore, the amount would long ago have been awarded them; but having ended her piratical career, and sunk her forever out of sight, much red-tape has been necessary to secure to them their lawful due. Their gallant conduct cheered the whole loyal north, and sent a pang to the heart of every Rebel, both at home and abroad, and we are glad that justice, though tardy, will now be done them. No one act during the entire rebellion tended more to strengthen our cause, than the defeat of the dangerous cruiser Alabama.

THE FOLLOWING passage occurs in the recently published English case, which is to be laid before the Geneva Arbitration: "This rule is interpreted as prohibiting the supply of war-waging vessels from neutral ports, but as not prohibitory of the sale of arms or munitions of war in the ordinary course of commerce." In other words it is wholly agreed by all nations that the right to sell arms or war material is not, and cannot be interfered with, no matter whether every friendly nation is at war. It would be absurd to teach that because Germany and France were at war, therefore the United States had no right to sell useless arms. So long as those arms were not sold to one or other of the belligerents, knowing them to be such, by our Government, no law has been broken or faith violated. If we want to sell arms, it is not necessary to look over the world to discover whether any friendly power is engaged in a conflict. We have a clear right to make such sale at any time, and any private citizen has a perfect right to purchase, no matter for whom, so long as he is not known to be in the agency of a foreign Government, at war with a friendly power.

LIFE OF JOHN WESLEY.*

The history of insular and continental Europe, during the latter part of the seventeenth and the first half of the eighteenth century, is replete with events of thrilling interest both to the politician and the churchman. The battle of the Boyne in 1690, and subsequent engagements between the forces of the Prince of Orange and James II., in which the former were victorious, secured Protestant ascendency in Great Britain. The revocation of the edict of Nantes in 1685 by Louis XIV., was as unjust as it was impolitic. That famous instrument was passed by Henry IV. in 1598 and secured to all the subjects of his realm the right to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. Its revocation by the tyrannical and ambitious Louis, whose perfidy and infidelity involved him in almost perpetual wars with England and different Continental powers, compelled the Huguenots to flee for refuge to England, and different parts of Germany, where they established the manufacture of silk, to the great detriment of France.

On the accession of Queen Anne, second daughter of James Duke of York, afterwards James II., to the throne of England in 1707, the wars which had been carried on by her predecessor, William III., were immediately renewed by royal proclamation, and the Duke of Marlborough, who had been appointed General of the English forces, and Generalissimo of the allied army by the Dutch, achieved splendid victories at Oudenarde, Ramillies, Blenheim and other places.

But whilst the English forces were engaged in subjugating Louis on the Continent, there were violent political and ecclesiastical struggles going on at home. Angry discussions were had in regard to the union of England and Scotland under one parliament, which, despite the opposition of the tories, was ratified, finally, in 1707. The tories, who had been entrusted with the control of the Government on the occasion of the accession of Queen Anne, were deeply chragrined and mortified that they had been ousted from power and defeated so often by the Whigs. They were determined to have revenge, through the aid of the Jacobites. To effect their object they made the church an "engine of mischief." Henry Sacheverell, a rabid high churchman, preached several sermons against the Whig government and the rights of dissenters, and denounced Lord Godolphin, then high treasurer, in the most scurrilous terms. For his incendiary utterances he was impeached and brought to trial before the Peers. The trial lasted for a month, at the close of which he was suspended from the exercise of the functions of his office for three years, and a common hangman was ordered to burn his obnoxious sermons. The mildness of the sentence was looked upon by the tories as a triumph, —as they had a right to consider it—for the Whig ministry was dismissed with contumely, and at the expiration of Sacheverell's sentence, he was presented by the Queen to the "rich living" of St. Andrew's, Holborn. Anne, who ever warmly espoused the cause of the High Church party, was now completely under Tory influence. The latest biographer of John Wesley, whose work, just issued from the prolific press of Harper & Brothers, New York, now lies before us, informs us that "Queen Anne, in meeting her Parliament in 1710, no longer condescended to use the word toleration in reference to Dissenters, but spoke of indulgence to be allowed to scrupulous consciences." Whilst these political and military commotions were taking place, the great founder of Methodism was born.

The period in European history to which we have referred is also remarkable for the birth and labors of many great and distinguished men, the memories of some of whom are cherished with delight whilst those of others still come up as a foul stench in the nostrils of men of purity, orthodoxy and morality, and their names are only remembered to be execrated. Francois Marie Abouet Voltaire was born in a village near Paris, almost in the evening twilight of the seventeenth century. He was a man of varied genius, and made brilliant contributions to almost every department of literature. He was a satirist, a poet, and a historian, and is entitled, perhaps, to be ranked among philosophers. His writings, owing to his powers of representation, vivacious style, and sallies of wit and humor, exercised a most powerful influence ever all Europe. But he was irascible in temper, malignant in disposition, filled with vanity and self-conceit, and allowed no opportunity to pass in which he could glorify himself. He possessed a bad heart, sneered at everything that was pure and holy, was indeed an unblushing infidel. Henry St. John, better known as Lord Bolingbroke, by whom, if we are to believe French apologists, Voltaire was confirmed in his infidelity, was about sixteen years his senior. He was an orator and statesman, but was greatly given to dissipation. He was a cowardly infidel. Dr. Johnson says "he loaded a blunder-buss against Christianity which he had not the courage to fire during his lifetime." David Hume, the "Destroyer," was born whilst Anne occupied the British throne, and was the junior of Voltaire by about fifteen years. At this period George Berkeley was pursuing his speculative theory; Sir Isaac Newton was making his brilliant experiments; the Earl of Chesterfield was inculcating the most pernicious principles in "letters" to his natural son; Sherlock had become famous as a pulpit orator. "The wits of Queen Anne's time were mustered, in poetry and prose, under such chiefs as Prior and Pope, Jonathan Swift, Addison and Steele, Arbuthnot and Defoe. This was the age, too, of Warburton, Butler, Lardner, Isaac Watts, George Whitefield, Phillip Doddridge, and many others, who are justly called "giants."

But we doubt if there is any one in the brilliant galaxy of literary men, whose names adorn the pages of history during the period we have referred to that is more widely known, or more extensively and profoundly revered than John Wesley, the founder of Methodism. His name is a household word in every Christian family, and shall be held in everlasting remembrance.

John Wesley was born at the Epworth Rectory, Lincoln county, England, on the 17th of June, 1703. He was the son of Samuel and Susannah Wesley. His father was the learned and highly esteemed rector of the Parish of Epworth from 1696 till his death in 1735. The Wesley family consisted of nineteen children, nine of whom died in infancy. They suffered much, as many good people often do, from the inconvenience of poverty, of which, in their private correspondence with each other, they frequently speak, but of which they never complain. Before John was three years old, his father was imprisoned for debt, and three years afterwards the parsonage was destroyed by fire, from which, he, who was afterward to almost to turn the world upside down, was rescued with difficulty. From childhood John Wesley was noted for his studious habits. "He would do nothing without reflecting on its fitness and propriety."

His conduct was so exemplary and his devotional spirit so marked that his father admitted him to the communion table at the immature age of eight years. In his own works he informs us that he had not sinned away "that washing of the Holy Ghost, which he received in baptism" until he was ten years of age, an expression which will be considered strange by what are called orthodox christians of the present day. He was chiefly educated by his mother, a woman of fine mental culture, until he was ten years of age, when, through the friendly services of the Duke of Buckingham, at that time Lord Chamberlain of the royal household, he was admitted a pupil of the Charterhouse School in London. While at this institution he "lost the religion which had marked his character from the time of his infancy." "He entered a saint, and left a sinner." During the period of his attendance at the Charterhouse "mysterious and preternatural voices" were heard in the rectory at Epworth, in regard to which he made minute inquiry of all the household, and, strange to say, as the result of his investigations he became a "firm believer in ghosts and apparitions."

In 1720 Wesley was elected to Christ Church, Oxford, where he remained for five years, and sustained the reputation for scholastic attainments which he had won at the Charterhouse, but there was no felt or visible change in his religious character. At the expiration of his five years residence in Oxford he was ordained a deacon. In 1726 he was elected fellow of Lincoln College, and was so destitute of funds that he had not money enough to pay for the "cutting off his hair." In 1727 he took his degree of Master of Arts. He became his father's curate in August of the same year, and officiated at Epworth and Wroote until November, 1729. In July 1728 he was ordained priest by Dr. Potter, by whom he had been ordained deacon about three years before. He returned to Oxford in 1729 "to fulfill his functions as a fellow," and remained in this position till he set sail for Georgia on the 14th of October, 1735.

We have not space in which to describe his voyage across the Atlantic, his arrival at Savannah, and the eventful life which he spent there for about two years. These are all told faithfully and minutely by Mr. Tyerman, and possess great interest not only to Methodists, but Christians generally. His "love scrape" with Miss Hopkey, his trial before the grand jury of Savannah, and conviction of ministerial offences, excluding Mrs. Williamson from the communion table on the alleged ground that she had rejected him as a suitor, are all narrated with a minuteness of detail that will be satisfactory to the most fastidious and inquiring mind.

John Wesley was at an early age, a believer in ghosts and apparitions, a high churchman and a ritualist. He had his faults and foibles, which his faithful biographer, in the work before us, does not attempt to conceal or even palliate. But he was a great and good man—a modern Paul—and the founder of a sect of Christians, whose growth, enthusiasm, energy and devotion to the cause of Christ are the wonder and admiration of the world. According to the statistics given by Mr. Tyerman in the introduction to his work, there are in connection with the Methodist Church throughout the world, 21,875 ministers, exclusive of local preachers; 2,901,202 Church members; 2,400,395 Sunday school scholars, and 5,802,400 hearers. These are the fruits of about one hundred and forty years. Is there another denomination in Christendom that can make such an exibit? We think not.

The Messrs. Harper & Brothers merit the thanks not only of the great Methodist church, but Christians of all denominations for giving to the United States this important work, in that excellent style for which their establishment has attained a world-wide fame. We have no doubt that the volumes which are yet to be issued will be equally interesting.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

WE noticed recently some curious statistics concerning the steady decrease in the size of American families. Anxious persons, who may have inferred from the alleged fact the speedy decline of the United States, may calm their fears. The statement applies equally well to other countries. According to John Stuart Mill, there has been a steady decrease since 1821, in the number of children born to each one thousand women, both in France and in England. It is especially noteworthy that this has been the case in England, where wealth has been accumulating so abundantly in both the middle and the upper classes. Increase in the property of a nation has almost always been followed by increase in the number of its children, but during the last half century the rule has not held good.

COL. FORNEY has inaugurated his policy of "Let us have Peace" within the confines of the Republican party. In yesterday's Press he said:

"State after State is declaring for the renomination of President Grant; Maine and Ohio have just spoken unanimously. The earnest discussion of his character and his policy seem more fully to vindicate the one and to strengthen the other. The last attempt in the Senate to involve the Secretary of War in the sale of the French arms is so transparent a failure that it can only react in favor of that accomplished officer, and add a new element of power to the resistless movement in favor of his chief. It would be a happy termination of an unhappy demonstration if the eminent Republican Senators who started it would frankly admit the the mistake they have made, and so open the door for that reconciliation which only requires to be commenced to secure complete harmony and assure victory. There is no virtue more befitting an exalted leader than magnanimity, and he who is first to show it will be longest remembered. Twenty-six years ago Senator Benton, of Missouri, rose in his place and moved the indefinite postponement of one of his favorite measures. Mr. Clay taunted him with having killed his own offspring. 'Yes, sir,' said Benton; 'I have killed it; I have killed it dead, sir; dead as a door nail. I am always ready to sacrifice myself for my country." President Grant showed the same spirit when he gave up Santo Domingo. Sumner shows it when he resolutely perils his chances for national honors by advocating the cause of the persecuted freedman. The people are weary of the personalities between their leaders, and deserve and demand some sacrifice of punctillio and individual resentment for the sake of the common cause."

LOWELL, Mass., has just witnessed a tragedy, which is a painful illustration of the recklessness of human life engendered by the countless shooting and stabbing affrays of the last few years. Two boys, Charles E. Kimball, aged 19, and Charles A. Watts, aged 16, were rivals in the affections of a young lady of that town. She chose to go home last Sunday evening with the elder of her admirers. Thereupon the discarded juvenile got a pistol, and ambushed himself near the residence of the perfidious fair. When Kimball came out, Watts, with mingled brutality and cowardice, shot him. The ball passed through his wrist and right lung. There is just a possibility of his living, and his would-be murderer is now in jail waiting the result of his crime. He probably imagined himself a hero last Sunday evening. By the time he has cried himself to sleep a few more nights, it is possible that a faint idea of his innate scoundrelism may dawn upon his mind. The haunting desire to attract attention has more than once caused weak-brained boys and girls to commit suicide; but it would be hard to find a parallel for this case of willful murder. Wholesome severity of punishment will have a powerful tendency to prevent any imitation of it hereafter.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE, says a New York letter, is writing regularly for Appletons' Journal, and is at the same time toiling on his first novel, of which I wrote briefly in a previous letter. He is an uncommon man in appearance; tall, measuring over six feet, remarkably broad-chested, strong, athletic and vigorous, he is always conspicuous. In features and manner he much resembles his father. His style of composition seems to be patterned by his father's. He has a pleasant essay on "A warm bath," which opens as follows: "There is much the same difference between a cold and warm bath that there is between a man and a woman, in respect both to amount and quality. The sturdy, plain-spoken brusqueness of the one is as masculine as the soft, voluptuous embrace of the other is feminine. We battle valliantly with the former, while the latter woos us with soothing caresses. From one we issue with bounding pulse and glowing cheeks; from the other with dreamy eyes and languidly luxurious step. We find, in the cold bath, health and hardiness; in the warm, Lethean ease and indolent repose. The voice of the cold bather is loud and cheerful; of the warm, low-toned and musical. Warm water is pregnant of tropical emotion; cold of Siberian robustness."

THE Portuguese Cabinet has announced a very sweeping projet de reform. It includes abolition of the hereditary peerage; the removal of all restrictions on the press; the abolition of punishment by death; the right of holding meetings, subject only to police regulations, and the extension of the suffrage, already very low, to heads of a family who can write. This is all very well, but we cannot but think that the Portuguese Ministry would evince greater breadth of view and sagacity, if it had deferred some of these political reforms for the present, and had meanwhile devoted all its energies to expanding the trade of the country, making roads, stimulating enterprise, and for once in a while showing, what would be almost as great a surprise to the country as the earthquake of Lisbon, a surplus instead of a large deficit in its Budget. The vulgar consideration of money seems, except when borrowing or repudiating have to be done, reckoned beneath the notice of the statesmen of the Peninsula. Not that we mean to include Portugal in the same category as Spain in respect to brazen-faced treatment of bondholders.

BLACK LAKE, Sullivan county, N. Y., was the scene of a wholesale immersion last week, which came disagreeably near being a wholesale tragedy. Two little girls named Brooks and Schoonmaker were crossing the lake on the ice, when they broke through and sank. A lad named Kilcain ran to their assistance and also broke in. Another lad named Brooks followed his example, as did a young man named Burt. At this juncture a brawny woodchopper named Deseker appeared on the scene, and in attempting to rescue the almost exhausted boys and girls, shared their fate. The whole settlement had now been attracted to the shore of the lake and the wildest excitement prevailed. Women were fainting, crying and praying; men were shouting and running hither and thither in unavailing search for means of relief. At last, and as the situation was becoming quite critical, young Kilcain succeeded in getting a foothold upon the treacherous ice, and secured a tannery hook, by means of which all were rescued and resuscitated, greatly to the joy of their relatives and friends.

A BALLOON ascent unprecedentedly satisfactory is reported from Vincennes, France. During the siege of Paris one M. Dupuy de Lome received from the Government of National Defense an offer of twenty thousand dollars for a balloon which he undertook to furnish prior to the capitulation of Paris. About three weeks ago, when all was complete, he made an ascent with thirteen men, and the result seems to have proved to demonstration the perfection of his method of guiding. The balloon is said to have obeyed the helm with the utmost alacrity, and to have progressed readily in the teeth of the wind. If this goes on, railway and steam-packet stockholders must prepare for a fall. London and Paris will become a three-day's journey from New York when the wind favors.

MATTERS OF MOMENT.

IT now seems probable that Hell Gate in New York harbor is being kept as a projectile and will not be removed until we are at war and the enemy's fleet attempts to cross the obstruction, when the fleet and the rocks will go aloft together.

THE Chicago Evening Post is trying to prove that Hamlet was not mad, and that Polonius was no fool. We, ourselves, would rather do that than attempt to prove—— well, there is no use of being disagreeable, but the Evening Post is not wise sometimes.

THE next investigation needed is one to find out at whose suggestion and by whose authority and encouragement the Tribune correspondent writes, and the Tribune prints such gross lies, misstatements and perversions in regard to Washington affairs. Can it be Ignatius Loyola Greeley?

THE ailing world may well turn pale, for the latest news is that the workmen of Bass & Co., and Allsop & Co. have struck work. So far as America is concerned, however, this makes no difference, for our bottled Bass and Allsop are free and independent of the action of any English workmen.

WE ARE surprised to learn that the Delaware peach crop will probably be less than half full this year. We are surprised because we had thought this was the time to hear it was totally ruined. Last year the peevish predicters said we would not have half a crop, and if we have as many this year, few persons will complain.

SINCE the authorities of Louisville have determined to arrest all persons using profane language on the streets, the question which naturally arises is, after the first half of the inhabitants have arrested and imprisoned the second half, who will arrest and imprison the first half? The mammoth cave will doubtless be engaged as a lock-up.

THE editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal is wild and excited about capital punishment, and demands its speedy abolition. This is not singular, and, by the way, there is said to be another man, in a New York penitentiary, condemned, years ago to be hung, who daily prays for the abolition of capital punishment, but it may come too late.

A DEMOCRATIC paper says: "The desertions from the army amount to ten thousand a year." We do not deny this, but as the army consists of but thirty thousand men, and there is said to be scarcely any recruiting done, we would like to know if President Grant, who is blamed for this desertion, began to compel the soldiers to take French leave at this rate as soon as he was inaugurated, three years ago?

"IT is said that when nitro-glycerine is exploded in oil wells some of it escapes and is afterwards pumped up with the oil. This, we presume, is why the kerosene we use in our lamps is so tragically 'non-explosive.'" The above is an editorial paragraph from the Louisville Courier-Journal, and we really can't say that we like the idea, at least, not any better than when we published it in the GAZETTE ten days ago.

SCHURZ is in a pitiable plight. Sumner thinks that all his own doings are perfect, but Schurz is able to appreciate the fact that he stands before the country with his, well, let us say his insincerity laid bare. His assertions have been proved untrue and his statements false. He is something like one of these wirey little terriers that has had its ears trimmed off; he is woefully hurt, and everybody knows he is hurt, but if he puts up his paws and howls as he would like to, it will show a lack of pluck, and his cake will at once become dough.

WE do not see that the Democratic party has found a man yet. It seems to be as badly off as a spinster of forty years in one of those New England villages, where seven women lay hold of one man and make themselves agreeable to him. "Thou art so near and yet so far" is the battle cry, and as soon as one of the innumerable cliques selects a platform plank, or a candidate, all the others begin in their fine falsettos, "Beware, he's fooling thee." The truth is, they have come to the last verse of a favorite ballad which says: "There are good fish in the sea, but oh! they won't be caught."

PERSONAL.

MARY HARRIS, who shot Borroughs, of the Treasury Department, Washington, some years ago, has become a raving maniac.

YUNG WING, a Chinaman who graduated at Yale in 1854, writes that he will bring thirty of his countrymen to that college.

GEN. KILPATRICK has accepted an offer of three thousand dollars in gold to go to California for twelve lectures during the month of May.

MR. WINWOOD READE is engaged upon a work entitled "The Dark Continent," in which he will endeavor to apply Darwinian principles in their full extent to history and religion.

MRS. BRETTELL, who recently died in England, in her ninetieth year, was for seventy years a faithful servant in the households of George III., George IV., William IV., and Queen Victoria.

BOGUNIL DAWISON, the greatest of German actors, equally fine in tragedy and comedy, is dead. For several years his mind has been completely gone, and death was the only relief possible for the wrecked and abandoned body.

CAPT. ARTHUR ORMSBY, of the British army, who died recently in England, served in the Peninsula from 1809 to 1811. During the campaign of 1815 he was with the Fourteenth regiment of infantry, which was present at the battle of Waterloo. Afterwards he saw service in India.

MR. L. M. OVIATT has been removed from his position as librarian of the Cleveland Public Library, and Miss Mary B. Merriam appointed in his stead, at a salary of $1,500—a reduction of $1,000. Miss Merriam was originally brought from Lowell, Massachusetts, to catalogue the books.

REV. JOEL EDWARDS, of Iowa, believes that he owns about $3,000,000 worth of New York. A real estate lease of ninety years, made by his great grandfather, having expired, by which $28,000,000 worth of real estate falls to the heirs, of which the Rev. Joel is one. Lawyers are looking into the matter for him.

THE lion which killed Massarti, its keeper, in England, a short time ago, is dead from the wounds inflicted upon it in the attempt to save the man's life. The animal was full grown, and seven years of age, having been brought from the forest when six months old. The day after Massarti's death another keeper narrowly escaped destruction.

MR. SALEM TOWNE died in Charlton, Mass., on Saturday last, in the house in which he was born, at the age of ninety-two years. He served several terms in the State Legislature, was colonel in the American army in the war of 1812, and was afterwards made General of the State militia. He was widely known as the author of Towne's series of reading and spelling books.

THERE are six Americans in the Canadian Parliament—Messrs. J. M. Currier, Aquilla Walsh, Joseph Rymal, John H. Pope, J. Y. Bown, and L. H. Holton. Mr. Currier represents the capital of Canada; Mr. Walsh is the chief commissioner of the Intercolonial Railway; Mr. Pope is Minister of Agricultural and Statistics; Mr. Rymal is the wit of the House; and Mr. Holton has been Minister of Finance, Mr. W. P. Howland, Governor of Ontario, is also an American.

GOVERNOR CURTIN and family arrived at Nice yesterday week, and have taken apartments at the Hotel d'Angleterre. It is generally admitted at Washington that Governor Curtin managed the Catacazy affair at St. Petersburg with great skill and discretion, and to the entire satisfaction of our Government. The Governor will join General Sherman and party in Naples in about a fortnight, and will accompany them to the East.—American Register, (Paris,) Feb. 3.

MR. PFYFFER enjoys a distinguished honor. Our Paris correspondent writes that the other day "he was presented to the Count de Chambord, and kept his hat on." This privilege was granted to his ancestors in 1567 for services. Another droll story is about the family de Croy. They possess a very ancient picture, no one knows when painted, representing one of the family near drowning at the deluge, his head just above water, and extending to a daughter-in-law of Noah—herself a Miss de Croy—his parchments and titles of nobility. This is an old legend with new names. Another as a pendant. The Duke de Levis (probably Levi originally) has a picture representing one of his ancestors taking off his hat in passing before the Virgin Mary, who says to him, with sympathetic kindness, "Put on your hat, my dear cousin."

THERE was a very racy scene at the Royal Opera, Berlin, one night during the first week in February. There was a great jealousy between Frau Lucca and Frau Millinger, and fierce has been the struggle between their respective friends and admirers. That night, matters came to a crisis. The piece was the Marriage of Figaro. The battle of disapprobation and of applause increased in fierceness from act to act, and at last it became impossible to carry on the performance. Frau Lucca then boldly stepped forward to the footlights and rated the public in good set terms. She told them that if they kept on in that style she would leave off singing for them altogether. In the meantime, Frau Millinger, less courageous, had sunk into a chair, and was shedding floods of tears. The public at last became quiet, and the performance was brought to an end. But the altercations recommenced outside of the house, and the Emperor, who was passing, witnessed the tumult, and gave orders to the police to clear the streets.

RUPTURE TRUSSES.

Every one who may be afflicted with rupture of the bowels ought to wear a properly fitting truss, to secure them from the danger of strangulated rupture, that is, when the rupture comes down so that it cannot be returned. Strangulated rupture is a fearful condition, and one which need never occur if those who are ruptured were to wear a truss with sufficient power to remove the protrusion.

There are hundreds of people who have rupture who do not seem to be aware of it nor of the attendant danger which it involves.

Every case of rupture can be relieved and many of them cured by timely attention. This is the time of year when such things show themselves, owing to the relaxation of the system incident to the changes of climate. Dr. Keyser, at his office, 167 Liberty street, is supplied with trusses and has them to suit every age and condition and at all prices.

CAUTION.

The efficacy of PANCREATIC EMULSION and PANCREATINE and its preparation in the treatment of Consumption, Indigestion and Wasting Diseases, depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs. Savory & Moore caution the public against inferior preparations, which are calculated to cause disappointment and to injure the reputation these medicines have acquired. Purchasers should see that each bottle has the names of Savory & Moore and their trade mark.

KINDNESS TO KINDREDS.

Want of the necessary means to supply the necessities which usually press upon people in the more moderate walks of life, may be an excuse for neglecting a disease which, like consumption, has often in times past been esteemed as incurable. But the common ties of nature, which ought to bind man to his own, overleap all these barriers in the estimation of right-thinking people; and when we see a medicine like Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure curing hundreds of people all around us, we feel it not only a pleasure, but a duty to point out to our readers such a valuable acquisition to medical knowledge. In the earlier stages of lung disease Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is a specific. The cough and chill, the spits streaked with blood, all give place to that healthy equilibrium of the circulation which is induced by that all-powerful remedy; and every bit of peccant and disorganizing material is expelled from the blood, and removed from the system by the natural ducts and excretory organs of the body. The tens of thousands of lungs clogged with mucus and seething with corruption can be made to perform the office of respiration by a timely use of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure. Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, February 22, 1872.

The following shows the imports, exclusive of specie, at the port of New York for the week ending February 17th, and since the beginning of the year:

	1870.	1871.	1872.
Dry Goods.	$ 2,387,438	$ 2,663,591	$ 2,864,556
General mdse	2,146,761	4,341,556	4,451,783
Total for w'k	$ 4,634,199	$ 7,005,147	$ 7,319,339
Prev'ly rep..	26,670,820	33,211,704	39,494,992
Since Jan. 1..	$31,305,019	$40,216,851	$46,814,331

—The New York Bulletin, of Wednesday, in referring to the stock market, says: "The early part of the day in the stock market was given up entirely to Union Pacific, in which there is a "corner." The highest difference between "cash" and "regular" stock was ⅜; between "regular" and "seller 10" 1 per cent, between "regular" and "seller 30" 1⅜ per cent, and "regular" and "seller 60," 2⅜ per cent. If current rumor can be credited the pool control enough stock with what they hold to amount to 300,000 shares. They have also, it is said, bought short contracts on about 125,000 shares, so that they hold as far as speculation goes 425,000 shares. The entire share capital issued is 360,000 shares. This enables them to corner the stock, and the only question is whether it will be a profitable operation. The trouble with "corners" is that the cornering party have all the stock left on their hands, and where the stock has any value this is not a matter of much moment. It is not, however, claimed by the most sanguine friends of this road that it will for a long time under the best management be able to earn dividends on its stock. In the afternoon the entire market became strong, and there is an excellent prospect of the "bears" of last week having to pay dearly for depreciating other people's property."

—The New York Post says: "It is estimated that since the late agitation of the Alabama claims began from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 of United States Bonds have been returned here from Europe. A good part of them have been taken by the financial corporations and the remainder have found their way into the hands of private investors."

New York.

NEW YORK, February 22.—The Stock, Produce and Gold Exchange all adjourned last night till Friday, consequently there will be no New York markets.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, February 22, 1872.

APPLE BUTTER—Common to fair 50@55 cts per gallon, prime to choice, 60@65.

ASHES—Very firm and stocks are light, and prices are strong, though not quotably higher. Common Soda Ash, 4¼; refined, 5; Nitrate Soda, 5¼; Pots, 10; Pearls, 11.

APPLES—The arrivals continue light and with a steady demand prices are firm though unchanged; $3@4 per bbl for common to fair and $4,50@5 for prime to choice.

BUTTER—There is for the better grades a continued good demand and prime to choice roll is selling readily at 26@28. For low grade butter there is not much inquiry and stocks are accumulating.

BROOM CORN—We are reported small sales within the range of 6 to 9 cts.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—The supply in this market is reported small and it may be quoted steady at 4 cts.

BEANS—The stock is comparatively light and the market is firmer but prices are unchanged; $2@2,25 per bushel, for common to prime navy.

CHEESE—Is firm with a fair jobbing trade but there is no change to make in quotations, 17@18 for Goshen; 15@16 for Factory and 14@15 for Dairy.

CRANBERRIES—Sales at $12@17 per bbl, as to quality—the outside figure for Sackett's.

COUNTRY LARD—Sales at 8@8¾ cts.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$6 per case.

CANDLES—Mould, 12, Star, 20.

CARBON OIL—Quoted at 20@20¼ by the car load and 2@3 cts additional for small lots.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches: 10@10½ for halves; 8@8½ for mixed; 7@7½ for quarters and 15 @16 for peeled. Blackberries, 13@15 cts. Pitted cherries, 25@30 cts; unpitted, 8@10. Apples, 6¼@7¼ for common to fair and 8@8½ for prime to choice.

EGGS—Continue scarce and with considerable inquiry, fresh are selling readily at 32@33. It is not expected that these prices will be sustained long, and shippers should make a note of this and act accordingly.

FLOUR—Trade is generally reported a little slow, most of the retailers and bakers being pretty well stocked, and extreme quotations, are not, as we learn, always adhered to. Sales of fair to good spring wheat at $7,35@7,50; and choice (including Minnesotas) at $7,75 @7,85; fair to good red winter wheat, $7 50@7,75; and choice at $7,90@8. Rye Flour in small lots, $5,50. The receipts have been rather large for some days past, mainly from Chicago.

GRAIN—With continued light receipts and a steady demand, Wheat is strong and prices a shade higher; we now quote at $1,58@1,62 for fair to prime red, and 3@5 cents more for white, according to quality—there is more inquiry for the former than the latter. Oats, generally reported dull, though prices are unchanged—dealers generally are not disposed to make any concessions; we continue to quote at 49@50, by the car load. Most of the stock in this market cannot be sold under our quotations without losing money; as the demand nearly always improves during the spring and the arrivals fall off, there is nothing in the situation to induce holders to force sales. Shelled Corn is quiet but unchanged, 58 on track, 60 in elevator; sales of ear, on track, at 59c. bagged, considered equivalent to 60 cts in bulk. Rye, higher and scarce, though the demand does not seem to be urgent; we continue to quote at 95c—$1—we are cognizant of some sales at something over a dollar, some 2,000 bushels in all. Barley is quiet; good to prime spring, 75@80, and good to prime fall, 80 @85.

GROCERIES—Coffee continues quiet—trade has been dull in the seaboard markets for some two or three weeks, but notwithstanding, there is no decline as yet. E. C. Small & Co., of Baltimore, in their circular, appear to think that the proposed repeal of the duty on Coffee will become a law, and this seems to be the general belief, but there are some who think otherwise; from the same circular we learn that the stock in first hands is 129,084 bags, against 67,794 bags same time last year. The latest advices from Rio Janeiro are said to be the strongest yet received, and, in consequence, prices, notwithstanding the demand continues light, are fully sustained. Sugars are weak and dull, though not quotably lower. Molasses, especially choice New Orleans, firm at the recent advance. There has recently been a large movement in Syrups, in the east, in part for export, but mainly on speculation, in consequence of the unusually low prices; since then a much stronger feeling has prevailed, and an advance of 3@5 cts established.

HOMINY—Sales at $4,50 per bbl to the trade and and $5 in a jobbing way.

HAY—Continues to arrive freely, and, with only a fair demand, the market is dull and prices are weak; we now quote, by the car load, at $22@25 per ton, according to quality.

LARD OIL—No. 1 Extra is quoted at 85 and No. 2 at 65.

MILL FEED—Is quoted in a jobbing way at $1,20@1,25 per cwt for Bran, $1,35@1,40 for coarse corn meal, $1,50@1,55 for coarse and $1,70@1,75 for fine middlings; $1,60@1,65 for chopped corn and oats and $1,90@2,00 for oil meal.

ONIONS—Small sales at $2,50@3,00 per bbl, according to quality.

POULTRY—Dressed Chickens, 13@14 cts; dressed Turkeys, 16@18.

POTATOES—Sales, in a jobbing way, from store, at 70@75 per bushel.

PROVISIONS—Bacon Shoulders, 7 cts; sugar cured do, 8¾; Ribbed sides, 8; Short rib, 8¾; Clear, 9; Sugar Cured Hams, 12¾. Mess Pork, $14@14¼. Ham Sausage, 10¾. Dried 16¾. Lard in tierces, 9¾ for steamed, and 10 for kettle.

RAGS—Sales, 4@4¼ cts per lb.

SALT—Is quoted at $1,85 per bbl, by the car load, and $2 in a jobbing way.

SHAKER CORN—13@14 cts per lb.

SEEDS—Sales of small lots at $6,50@6,75 for Clover Seed, and $3.75@4,00 for Timothy. Flaxseed is unchanged at $1,80, and the receipts continue very meagre.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, February 22, 1872.

Trade was again very quiet to-day. Crude continues dull and drooping; spot, quoted at $3.40@3.47¼—sale 1.000 bbls seller March at $3.45, the lowest point touched this year. Refined, also quiet, prices nominally unchanged; February, 21¾; March, 22¾; no sales. It is hoped, as business has been very quiet all winter, that it will open up in earnest within the next few weeks, and at present there is every prospect of a fair spring and summer trade—it is hoped it will be better than last year.

Iron Markets.

NEW YORK.—Scotch pig is, as a rule, quiet, but firm. The balance of the lot of Eglinton purchased on speculation at the beginning of the year has been resold to a consumer at $39; 500 tons in addition have been sold at $38.50@39.50, and 150 tons Glengarnoch at $42, three months, interest added. Held at the close at $40@41 for Eglinton, $41@42 for Glengarnoch. American is very quiet, but firm at $42@45 for No. 1, and $41@44 for No. 2. The outside figure is the price asked by the companies for what little they have left, while there is a quantity in second hands which might be purchased at inside price. A good proportion of the stock bought on speculation at lower prices, deliverable in March, has been resold to consumers, and prices therefore are expected to remain firm, although it was feared by some that when these lots were thrown on the market it would have the effect of weakening prices. Scrap iron is in very light supply and more to arrive which, together with advices of advancing prices abroad, tends to stimulate the market, and prices at the close are very firm at $52,50 from yard, at which price 200 tons have been sold. This price could not be obtained from ships were there any here or on the way. Rails are also firm and scarce. We hear of the sale of 5,000 tons new Richardson's extra. Old rails quoted at $45@45,50. Refined bar is still firm at the late advance. Common sheets are quiet but firm.—Bulletin.

Wool.

River Intelligence.

The river remains about stationary at this point with scant five feet in the channel. Weather yesterday was clear and cold—all that could be desired for out door business.

There have been no arrivals or departures since the date of our last report. The Granite State started for Portsmouth at an early hour in the morning, but had only proceded a few miles when she encourted considerable heavy ice and Capt. Kerr thought it advisable to return and did so.

The Kate Putnam and Wild Duck are announced for St. Louis and the Messenger for Nashville.

The Arlington will take her departure as soon as the shore ice runs out. At present it would be impossible to make landings at many points.

—The Memphis Avalanche, of Monday, says: The Friar's Point packet, steamer Phil Allin was attached at Jones' Landing, some ten miles below this city, yesterday, while on her way up, by the Sheriff of Crittenden County, Ark., assisted by an armed posse of some twenty dark-complexioned citizens of the State over the way. The cause of the trouble is an unsettled store bill, due to A. Karr, of this city, amounting to some $5,000, and another claim of the same sort to M. Monaghan for over $2,060. It is said that other parties also hold provision claims against the Allin to a considerable amount. The passengers and a portion of the crew of the Allin came up yesterday on the Thompson Dean. It is very unfortunate, both to the steamer and her friends, that this matter became so complicated that it could not be satisfactorily arranged without resorting to extreme measures.

Since the above was written further particulars of the seizure of the Allin has been imparted by her arrival at the wharf last night. Sheriff Wm. Hardin and two white deputies boarded the steamer at Bledsoe's Landing yesterday afternoon stating that they wished to get off at Jones'. Upon reaching that point the armed posse suddenly put in an appearance, while the Sheriff produced his writ and read it to the Captain. During the afternoon James Lee, Jr., with several friends, left here for Jones' Landing on Brown & Jones' coal tug, and upon reaching there a satisfactory bond was arranged, with Messrs. J. M. Jones and V. R. Jones as sureties, after which the boat was permitted to proceed on her way, having been detained some hours by the law officers. Several of the armed negroes became boisterous and quarrelsome while on board the steamer and got into a row among themselves; one chap getting himself knocked down by a comrade. As the steamer left the landing at dark the rowdies fired half a dozen shots or more at her, several striking the boat's yawl, and one narrowly missing a member of the crew. No one was hurt, however. The Allin will leave again this evening as usual, and will not likely meet with further trouble.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Commercial: Dennis Cavanagh, one of the oldest pilots on the river, made his appearance on the landing yesterday. He commenced life on the river 45 years ago, as deck hand, and followed that calling for 3 years, when he was promoted to the position of mate. He acted in this capacity for a short time, when, having paid strict attention to the channel, and gained information from pilots, he engaged as a pilot himself, and has "stood watch at the wheel" ever since. Although now 70 years old, he looks as though he could be scarcely over 50. He is in excellent health, and still makes an occasional trip to the pilothouse. A number of our best pilots "learned the river" under him. Pilots Sam. Williams and Alex. Boss arrived from Evansville yesterday, and will soon start south on one of our New Orleans steamers.

—The New Orleans National Republican, of Sunday, says: The Richmond was libeled in the United States Courts yesterday by the owners of the Sabine for thirty-seven thousand and five dollars. She is in the hands of the United States Marshal, and will probably give bond and proceed to St. Louis as soon as the river opens. The owners of the Sabine have sued the Richmond and her owners for the value of the Sabine and her cargo. The best of legal talent have been employed on both sides.

—The Richmond did not leave New Orleans Saturday because she was libeled in the United States Courts by the owners of the Sabine for $37,000. She is in the hands of the United States Marshal, and will probably give bond and proceed to St. Louis as soon as the river opens. The owners of the Sabine have sued the Richmond and her owners for the value of the Sabine and her cargo. The best of legal talent has been employed on both sides.

—The Cincinnati Chronicle says: J. G. Isham, Esq., the steamboatmen's delegate to Washington, arrived home this morning. He brings a very encouraging report, having every confidence that the steamboatmen will receive a liberal bill. He thinks the "claptrap" men are evidently getting worsted.

—The latest in regard to the new locks is that the gates are almost completed, and the mud is nearly all excavated from the chambers. The gates have been thoroughly overhauled, and the locks will be ready for the passage of boats inside of six days.

—There is the enormous quantity of eighty-five thousand tons ore on the bank from Iron Mountain awaiting shipment. The company is preparing to bring to Carondelet one thousand tons per day for the furnaces and river shipment.

—Mr. C. K. Kellogg, of Ashland, has purchased a one-quarter interest in the Clipper, from Capt. L. C. George, for $1,800.

NEW YORK.

Washington's Birthday.

Charles Francis Adams on the Alabama Claims—Legislative Investigation.

NEW YORK, February 22, 1872.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS ON THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

Charles Francis Adams left for Washington last evening on a summons from the State Department. His return to this country was occasioned by the ill health of his wife. Upon the Alabama question he is very reticent, but thinks it is reasonable that our claims should be submitted to the Geneva Arbitration, which could dispose of them according to the evidence; and England, he believes, is disinclined for war. The Alabama excitement was due to the newspaper agitation. There is nothing which warrants him in believing that the Washington Treaty will be a failure. He does not think that Gladstone meant all that he said in his hasty speech, and he subsequently took back much of what he said at first on this question.

OBSERVING WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

Everything has worn a holiday appearance in this city to-day. Public business was wholly suspended. Flags were flying from many of the hotels, public places and many of the private residences. Broadway was thronged with pedestrians. The procession of the American Protestant Association passed off quietly. About four hundred marched through the streets, escorted by seventy policemen. The Order of United American Mechanics were out to the number of about four thousand, which included the delegations from Jersey City, Pennsylvania and Brooklyn and adjacent places, and duly paraded. A feature in the procession was the carriage of General Washington, drawn by four gray horses. The display was very fine.

LEGISLATIVE INVESTIGATION.

The Judiciary Committee of the Legislature continue their investigation of the conduct of Judges Barnard and Cardoza in secret, much to the surprise of the public. Judge Cardoza was present yesterday with his counsel. Several lawyers testified concerning the famous Black Friday gold suits, but nothing startling was developed. Judge Barnard was outside the committee room last evening. His counsel has asked to be informed of the nature of the charges against him. The World thinks these Judges should resign.

IMPORTING SMALL-POX.

The Board of Health has discovered a case wherein a small-pox patient has been sent from New Brunswick, New Jersey, to this city by the authorities there. The matter is to be laid before Governor Hoffman for his action.

HALL'S TRIAL.

It is arranged that Wheeler H. Peckham will represent the prosecution in the trial of the Hall indictments on Monday next. Hall will defend himself in person, assisted by his law partner, Vanderpool.

AN ARGUMENT AGAINST SMOKING.

An octogenarian named Margaret Watson, yesterday morning, while indulging in her habit of smoking in bed, set the bed on fire and was burned to death.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

—General Sherman has gone to Naples.

—The Illinois Democratic State Central Committee held a caucus at Chicago yesterday afternoon to discuss the political situation and decide on calling a State Convention.

—The spoke factory of Bimell & Co., and an adjoining dwelling, at St Marys, Ohio, is reported to have been burned on Wednesday morning. The loss is estimated at thirty thousand dollars; no insurance on the factory.

—The Wisconsin Assembly, after a long debate, moidified the Ohio temperance law by striking out the clause making the owners of the building responsible, and ordered the bill on its third reading. The vote was 55 to 38.

—Professor Marsh, at a meeting of the Sheffield School, Conn., in describing his tour to the West last summer, said that he found in Kansas fossils of gigantic saurians and winged reptiles of twenty feet spread. In the Basaltic region he found vast quantities of three-toed fossil horses.

—The tobacco manufacturers of St. Louis have adopted a resolution protesting against the decision of the Committee on Ways and Means in recommending a tax of sixteen cents on smoking and twenty-four cents on chewing tobacco, and urge a uniform tax on all manufactured tobacco.

—The Indianapolis Democratic State Central Committee met yesterday afternoon to determine upon a day for holding the Democratic State Convention. After considerable discussion, it was decided to hold it on Wednesday, June 12th, the basis of representation to be one delegate for every one hundred votes cast for Secretary of State at the election of 1870.

—Two soldiers, McCargue and Manavaugh, inmates of the National Asylum at Milwaukee, were found frozen to death in a ravine in the woods back of the Asylum barns on Wednesday. They were both almost totally blind, and have been missing for more than a month. Until the past few days they have been covered with snow. The thaw developed their whereabouts.

Sawyer's Barber Soap.

It gives us pleasure to call attention to this most excellent article of shaving soap. It gives universal satisfaction, and has acquired a reputation throughout the entire land. It is most unquestionably the best soap manufactured for the purpose, and is equally good for cleansing the skin. Manufactured exclusively by Messrs. B. C. & J. H. Sawyer, No. 47 Wood street, Pittsburgh, and for sale everywhere.

New Real Estate Agency.

Messrs. Seibert and Straub, gentlemen favorably known to the business community of Allegheny city, have opened a real estate agency at No. 206 Ohio street, Allegheny, and also at 115 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh. In presenting their card to our readers this morning, it will be seen that some unusual inducements are offered to purchasers of real estate. The property is beautifully located in Oakland, and in the immediate vicinity of the car station. Description lists and full information will be given by calling upon or addressing the gentlemen at either office. The firm is a very reliable one, and commends itself to the liberal patronage of the public.

Pittsburgh Industries.

There being a heavy call for the American Manufacturer and Trade of the West, which cannot always be supplied at the office of publication, nor with so much convenience to the public, it will hereafter be kept for sale at Pittock's and Gildenfenney's, Pittsburgh, and at Washington's, Allegheny, after 12 o'clock Thursday of each week.

This journal is assuming so high a character as a representative of the industrial interests of Pittsburgh and the county at large, that no manufacturer or producer who desires to keep well up with the times in all information pertaining to this department of the world's progress, can well get along without it.

Sanitary Matters in Allegheny.

The Sanitary Committee of Allegheny Councils held an informal meeting last night, which would have been formal but for the absence of the Secretary with the books and papers.

Health officer Hanna reported that the rumors of small-pox in the city so far as he could ascertain were greatly exaggerated. The physicians, however, had ceased to report, and he could not arrive at the exact truth.

An informal discussion ensued, in which the general sentiment was that the physicians could and should be prosecuted under the old ordinance, which, so far as it related to them was still in force.

No definite action, however, was taken, and it was decided to meet next Monday evening.

River Improvement.

The River Improvement Convention, at its session in Cincinnati on Wednesday evening, appointed a committee, pursuant to resolution, consisting of Hugh McNeill, H. W. Oliver, Jr., and Joseph Walton, to request an appropriation by the State Legislature to meet the expenses of a Board of Commissioners on River Improvements. The Committee on Commerce and Statistics, the members of which are A. L. Frazier, of Cincinnati, Chas. Davis, of Allegheny, C. Baird, of Ripley, Ohio, S. A. Cooper, of Marietta, and A. P. Stultz, of Zanesville, reported a system for obtaining information on the subjects appertaining to their duties. Persons possessing information on the subjects in charge of that committee are requested to forward the same to either of the last named gentlemen.

Musical.

In another column of this morning's issue will be found the advertising card of Mr. L. R. Norton, who has just opened a fine stock of Pianos, Organs and Melodeons, in Kim's new Building, No. 118 Smithfield street, opposite City Hall.

Mr Norton is the State Agent for Jewett & Goodman's Excelsior Organ, an instrument of established reputation, though now for the first time offered in this market. It is certainly a very finely finished and well made instrument, of pure tone and wonderful power. In our opinion it is destined to become one of the most popular organs in this market, as it already is, wherever it has been introduced. Mr. Norton is also agent for the well-known F. C. Lighte Piano, as well as some other makes the names of which we cannot now recall. We understand that Mr. Norton intends to do business on the one price system, which certainly commends him and his business to public favor. Give him a call at his elegant warerooms, and examine the merits of the instruments he has in stock.

Scientific Lecture.

Under the auspices of the Episcopal Church Guild, Col. James Park, Jr., of the Black Diamond Steel Works, delivered last evening a highly interesting and exceedingly instructive lecture on "Steel." The speaker commenced with a history of the earliest efforts and various processes and experiments made and attempted in the reduction and refining processes of iron. The discourse was replete with historical and scientific information, evincing deep research and scientific investigation of the subject so thoroughly treated.

No little importance was laid by the learned lecturer on the importance of the experiments made as early as the year 1740, by a watchmaker named Benj Huntsman, who had a very small shop in a field near Sheffield. In experimenting for a process for refining steel for watch springs, he was the first to melt steel in covered crucibles, a method which was soon discovered by other parties, and which, upon the information becoming more general, proved the foundation of the importance of Sheffield as a manufacturing city.

Col. Parke next described the first modern important improvement in the manufacture of refined steel from blister bars by the Seaman Gas Regenerative furnace, and clearly demonstrated the advance made by this process. He next took up the Martine and the Martine-Seaman process, and showed the advances made by these further experiments and improvements. The so-called Bessemer process was next taken up and its history fully related.

The lecturer demonstrated to the apparent satisfaction of his audience that to Mr. Wm. Kelly, of Pittsburgh, justly belongs the honor of having been the first to discover the process of "atmospheric air" into and through molten metal, reducing it from iron to steel almost instantaneously, the great principle of the pneumatic or Bessemer process. Mr. Kelly being engaged with other matters which required his immediate attention Bessemer became possessed of the important secret, and obtained a patent on the process. Mr. Kelly's claims, however, were so clearly established that a patent was also issued to him, and subsequently, when both patents had expired, letters were re-issued to him and refused to Bessemer, the patent office thus recognizing Mr. K.'s meritorious and honorable services in this most important branch of industry.

Col. Parke then showed the advantages possessed by America over Europe for the manufacture of steel by this late process in the superior quality of the iron ore found in numerous localities in the United States.

Value was added to the lecture by a judicious use of diagrams, representing the different styles and patterns of reducing furnaces. Specimens of ores and samples of manufactured metals in various degrees of refinement, as well as modes of implements and tools used by iron and steel workers, were also on exhibition, and at the close of the discourse were carefully examined and fully commented on by large numbers of the audience.

Col. Parke has the happy faculty of clearly explaining every branch of the subject brought before the attention of his hearers, even arising at times to eloquence in earnestness and devotion to that honorable pursuit which is his by profession.

The audience was of a quality and number that could not fail to be gratifying to the speaker and the entertainment, taken all in all may be pronounced a complete success, and we feel confident it might be repeated with both pleasure and profit to all who are interested in so important a subject as "Steel."

HORRIBLY MANGLED.

An Aged German Crushed to Death by a Locomotive—Coroner's Inquest.

The Coroner was summoned yesterday to hold an inquest on the body of a man named Joseph Gusch, who was killed in Patton tp., near Turtle Creek, about four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, by an engine on the New York and Cleveland Gas and Coal Company's "siding." It appears from the testimony taken at the inquest, that the deceased, who resided near the "siding," had occasion to pass through a gate at the rear of his dwelling, which movement placed him on the track. At the moment he did so an engine came along, and, although the engineer observed the unfortunate man when within twenty feet of him, he was unable to check his engine in time to prevent the sad catastrophe which followed. Both engine and tender passed over the body of Gusch, cutting off both legs and mangling the body horribly. The victim survived his injuries only fifteen minutes, when death relieved him. The deceased was a native of Germany, was aged about sixty-two years, and was a widower, and the father of eight grown up children, all of whom reside in this vicinity. The verdict of the jury was to the effect that death resulted from an unavoidable accident.

STREET CAR DEMOLISHED.

Car No. 9, Ormsby Passenger Railway, Run Into by a Locomotive—Miraculous Escape of Passengers.

Car No. 9 of the Pittsburgh & Ormsby Passenger Railway met with an accident, last evening, which resulted in its utter demolition. But the most remarkable feature of the disaster is, that the car, at the time of the mishap, was occupied by eight passengers, all save two of whom escaped injury, while those who were injured received only slight cuts and bruises. The accident occurred in this wise:

About six o'clock last evening the street car arrived at the Try street crossing of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway, and at the same time the Columbus mail train was approaching from the west, and was close at hand. From some cause, as yet unexplained, the driver of the street car paid no heed to the warning given, but drove upon the crossing just in time for a first class accident. The car was caught upon the cowcatcher, lifted from the ground and carried along Try street a distance of about one hundred feet, when the engineer succeeded in stopping the train. The train, at the time the car was struck by the engine, was running at the rate of four miles an hour, and, as may well be imagined, the latter was badly broken—indeed, it may be safely asserted that the car was crushed and torn into fragments so small as to render it utterly unrecognizable as a street car. There were eight passengers, seven men and one woman, in the wrecked car, and strange to state, only two of them were injured in the slightest degree. One man received a trifling scratch on the arm, and the other injured passenger, Detective Seth Wilmot, was cut and bruised on the head. The driver, Tim Haley, received an ugly cut on the nose. Among the passengers, in addition to Detective Wilmot, were Detective Fred. Ruch and Officer John Trimble.

The horses attached to the car took fright at the collision and, springing suddenly forward, broke loose from the car and ran away, but were subsequently captured on Second avenue, between Ross and Grant streets.

As to who is responsible for the disaster, we have different statements. The driver asserts that he received no warning, while it is claimed on the other hand that the watchman at the crossing notified him of the approach of the train, as did also the conductor of the street car. The cost of the car, which is a total wreck, was about one thousand dollars.

CHRISTIANS AND TEMPERANCE.

A New Movement in the Temperance Cause—Another Contemplated Crusade Against Intemperance—Preparing for the Work—A County Temperance Alliance Formed—The Opening of the Campaign.

The call for a grand mass meeting of the friends of temperance was responded to yesterday by a large number who gathered at the room of the Young Men's Christian Association. The assemblage was graced by the attendance of a number of ladies, who seemed to be as much interested in the proceedings as the male portion of the meeting, from whom proceeded all the discussion and work.

The meeting was organized at half-past two o'clock, Rev. A. J. Rowland being called to the chair and Prof. L. H. Eaton officiating as Secretary.

The exercises were preceded with prayer by the Rev. J. D. Herr, after which

Mr. Thomas H. Rabe explained

THE OBJECT OF THE MEETING

to be the organization of a County Temperance Alliance, having auxiliaries in every district of the county and in each of the churches. The gentleman spoke briefly of the importance of union in the work and the great necessity for a central organization among temperance men. It was proposed to organize an association for active, continued, united effort in the suppression of intemperance.

Mr. Rabe then moved that a committee of five on permanent organization, which motion was carried. The chair appointed Thomas H. Rabe, Esq., Rev. J. D. Herr, Rev. S. Y. Kennedy, Rev. T. N. Boyle and Jacob Reese, Esq.

When the committee had retired to deliberate, Prof. Johnson presiding at the organ, the assemblage united in singing a spirited temperance song.

The meeting was then thrown open for general discussion of the matter in hand.

LAST YEAR'S WORK.

Rev. Dr. Preston desired to know what efforts had been put forth by the members of the Young Men's Christian Association, in the past year.

Mr. W. K. Jennings gave a brief resume of the efforts of the Y. M. C. Association to have the laws enforced during the past year—the details of which had appeared in the public prints. The association had not met with as much success as was desired, but a new interest had been stirred up in the cause from which the most hopeful anticipation were entained.

THE OHIO LAW.

Dr. Preston, discussed the propriety of licensing the liquor dealers, where total prohibition could not be had. The best license law on the subject which tended in a great measure to prescribe the traffic within certain limits, was that in force in Ohio, where the liquor seller, was made liable for any damage, or violence resulting from the actions of any of his customers who became intoxicated through the the liquor sold them.

In Ohio this law had been found most beneficial in its effects, and although not as decisive as a prohibitory law, was the best substitute for it that could be obtained. He thought such a law would be eminently practical in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Jennings said the provisions of this law had been incorporated in a bill now before the Legislature.

Professor Johnson again took his place at the organ and lead in the singing of "The Happy Time," commencing—

There is a happy time not far away,
When Temperance Truth shall shine,
Bright, bright as day.

Rev. Mr. McKeever said they

in the cause; while he felt satisfied at the spirit which had been aroused by the efforts during the past year, yet he thought those efforts had only shown that the present liquor law was a failure. It needed amendment. Something more stringent was needed.

They were not engaged in this work as politicians engaged in their work, but as christians doing a solemn duty. He did not believe the public feeling was in favor of the liquor traffic but it was dormant and they needed some lever to lift it up, to arouse the people to greater exertions. There should be meetings in every church and schoolhouse, to thoroughly arouse the temperance sentiment. One of the morning papers had intimated that the "political shadow" would be seen in the meeting in which they had now associated. He, the speaker, thought that this question could never be properly appreciated until the political shadow did enter the councils of temperance men. The temperance men had a right to make their influence felt in politics just as the beer saloon keepers made their influence felt. Temperance men should arouse, and should grasp these political parties by the throat, and should demand of the leaders better for the temperance cause.

LICENSING INIQUITOUS.

He did not see how any real temperance man could look upon the license law with favor. It was iniquitous—was licensing sin. Temperance men should not go into this fight with kid gloves on, but with coats off, sleeves rolled up, and a firm determination to win. This liquor traffic had been sanctioned, and to a great extent, sanctified by so many years of practice, that some people were afraid to take hold of the matter. He didn't believe in such a sentiment, but thought temperance men collectively and individually should "pitch in."

Rev. G. G. Westfall thought the greatest defect was the want of harmonious action among temperance men. Another fault was the "deadness" of the churches in the matter. Many of the churches made war on the "secret" temperance societies, and thus threw obstacles in the way of the temperance movement.

The speaker believed that Prohibition could be put in force in Pennsylvania if temperance men would unite in that direction.

The Committee on Permanent Organization now returned with their report, which was presented by Mr. Rabe. It was considered seriatim.

ARTICLE 8. Amendments to this constitution proposed in writing at any regular meeting may be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the next regular meeting.

POINTS OF DISPUTE.

Some discussion ensued upon the points.

Mr. McCandless wanted to know if the Presidents of local temperance societies were eligible to membership in the Board of Managers of the Alliance. Some discussion ensued, but the understanding finally prevailed that the section had reference only to the Presidents of societies organized as auxiliaries to the Alliance.

Rev. Mr. Scovel objected to the "Christian clause" of the pledge, which made persons signing it, whether Christians or not, express their dependence in Christ. This, he thought, was hypocrisy.

Others were of the opinion that the clause should be maintained because it made the pledge stronger, and there could be little faith in a man's pledge when he depended alone on himself. The pledge with the "Christian clause" was finally passed.

Rev. Mr Scovel objected to the clause which provided that none but church members should be officers of the alliance. This was not altogether a Christain work but humanitarian as well; hence the assistance of some men who were not church members, but friends of temperance could very appropriately be received.

Mr. J. D. Carlisle favored the same view. He thought they ought to unite all temperance men in the work, though they might not be members of any Church.

Rev. Messrs. Ormond, Boyle and others contended that none but Christians should be officers, and Rev. Mr. Scovel's amendment was voted down.

The Constitution was then adopted as a whole.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

Rev. Mr. Boyle then made the following nominations for permanent officers of the Alliance:

President—Thomas H. Rabe.
Vice Presidents—J. P. Henderson, W. G. Warren, Barclay Preston.
Recording Secretary—W. W. Morehead.
Treasurer—John R. McCune.
Finance Committee—Jacob Reese, S. F. Von Bonhorst, Henry Lloyd.

The persons thus nominated were elected by acclamation.

Mr. Rabe, upon assuming the position to which he had been elevated, made an inaugural address of some length, expressive of the hope he had that a great temperance reform would be inaugurated by the Alliance; that by personal, individual effort, the people would be stirred up and then there would be no difficulty in securing the needed legislation at Harrisburg. It was proposed to go at the work in the spirit of love,—winning men rather than repelling them.

Mr. Jacob Reese, Chairman of the Finance Committee, promised plenty of funds to carry on the work.

The meeting then adjourned.

Public Entertainments.

NEW OPERA HOUSE.—John E. Owens is the attraction here. This evening he appears as Dr. Ollapod in the "Poor Gentleman," with Mr. Ellsler as "Sir Robert Bramble." The aboriginal extravaganza, "Live Indian" will close the entertainment.

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HOUSE—"Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be presented here to-night.

MASONIC HALL—An amateur company produced the temperance drama the "Drunkard" at Masonic Hall last, in a very creditable manner. It will be repeated this evening.

THE WORKHOUSE.

Some Interesting Statistics of Last Year's Operations—Facts and Figures for the Firends of our Reformatory Institutions.

The third annual report of the officers of the Allegheny Work house—a neat pamphlet of forty-three pages—has just been received. It contains a large amount of important information to those interested in the management of our reformatory institutions or reform in prison discipline, from which we glean a few extracts of interest to the general reader.

Mr. George R. White, President of the Board, in introducing the reports of the officers, refers to the fact that prison discipline within the past few years has been making encouraging progress, and now the tread mill, the block and chain, the shower bath, and such degrading means for the enforcement of discipline have been discarded, as relics of a less enlightened age and measures, founded upon christian love and kindness have proven more beneficial and successful in the reformation of criminals.

AN EVIL TO BE REMEDIED.

Such measures have been in force in the management of the workhouse and have been attended with good results. The President, however, regrets that the elevating influences surrounding the prisoner at the workhouse part company with him when he leaves that place and that the discharged prisoner finding himself destitute of means, and proper encouragement yields to the first temptation—and thus a good prisoner oftentimes becomes a bad member of society. To offer some remedy for this evil it has been suggested that an intermediate home be established where discharged prisoners may find a home and employment until they can further provide for themselves. A member of the Board, for the furtherance of this object, has donated a tract of land for such a home, which the President hopes will be erected by the efforts of other humanitarians who might take an interest in the work.

AN INEBRIATE ASYLUM SEPARATE.

The President next refers to the impracticability of blending a Workhouse and Inebriate Asylum together. "An inebriate asylum is essentially an hospital, and should be under the guidance and management of the best medical skill. In character it is more like a hotel without the usual attractions of the "bar," and everything in and about the institution should be planned and constructed with strict regard to general improvement and reform by social amusements and other means. There should be a chapel, library, reading-room, conservatory, ten-pin-alley, and all such similar attractions as serve to make an agreeable and pleasant home."

The President further says that there are sufficient grounds at Claremont for such a building, but the Board has not the necessary funds to erect the buildings. They, however, desire to recommend the building of such a separate institution, believing that in its practical workings the plan would be much better than the present system of crowding all the prisoners together.

The President in closing makes particular mention of the efficiency and general worth of the present excellent Superintendent, Mr. Henry Cordier.

TREASURERS REPORT.

From the report of Mr. Albree, Treasurer of the Board, it appears that the receipts were from the Board of Prison inspectors, interest, convict labor, &c., $171,519.52 the expenditures were for construction ($12,696.16) salaries, food, clothing, &c., making an aggregate of $169,426.80, leaving a balance in treasury of $2,092.72.

Superintendent Cordier's report is an extended and detailed statement of all the matters coming under his supervision. It appears from this report that on the 31st of December, 1870, there were in confinement 136 prisoners, during the year 1871 there were received 936, making a total for the year of 1,073. Of these there were

Discharged by expiration of sentence	764
Discharged by order of Court	40
Pardoned by the Governor	5
Removed to the Hospital for the Insane.	1
Died	2
Escaped	20
Total discharged during the year	832
Leaving in confinement December 31st, 1871	241

This shows an increase of one hundred and four prisoners.

The Superintendent refers to

RE-COMMITMENTS,

Which number thirty per cent. of the whole number committed, and asks if these "repeaters" are beyond the pale of reformation—a question which is accompanied by the answer that so long as the so-called short term system remains in vogue, and the community at large fails to do its duty, true and lasting, reformations will be like angel's visits, few and far between. Too short sentences, it is held, have a tendency of promoting rather than diminishing crime, and are detrimental to the good and welfare of the prisoner.

EMPLOYMENT.

It has always been the endeavor to furnish the inmates with employment as they are quartered in the institution. This is looked upon as a matter of discipline and as an important matter to the mental and physical well-being of the prisoners. The great majority—about eighty per cent.—were common laborers, and only five per cent. skilful mechanics—the remaing fifteen per cent. being indifferent workmen. After careful deliberation it was deemed advisable to institute a barrel factory, as a manufacturing establishment in which the labor of unskilled workmen could be best utilized. Preparations have already been made, and the factory will be in operation next month.

EARNINGS OF THE INMATES.

Since the 1st of April last 1,960,000 brick were manufactured, 800,000 of which were used in constructing the Work House building, 700,000 delivered to the Allegheny City Home, according to a contract with its board of 1,000,000, and 450,000 are still in the yard. The net income of this department amounts to $7,172.63, being the earnings of twenty-five men in nine months.

Still more profitable to the institution was the laundry department, which netted the sum of $3,042.04, by washing.

Brick making	$ 7,172 63
Laundry work	3,042 04
Excavating	622 10
Improvements and repairs	12,687 25
Total	$23,524 02

THE FEMALE DEPARTMENT.

The Superintendent gives a new argument for the suffragists, by saying "From the well-known character of female prisoners, I expected them to be a source of considerable annoyance, and was prepared to meet with many difficulties in my efforts to enforce a proper discipline. I was, however, very favorably disappointed by their quiet and peaceful conduct, for, with but a few exceptional cases, no occasion called for complaint or punishment in this department."

There are at present fifty women in the female department, who have been mainly employed in making and preparing clothing. But they will also be required, as soon as the necessary arrangements are perfected, to do the cooking and washing for the institution, and perform such other suitable work as may be procured from merchant tailors and other parties in the city.

The health of the inmates and officers of the institution have been excellent throughout the year, there having been only two cases of sickness which terminated fatally.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

Of the nine hundred and thirty-six prisoners received during the year, there were committed:

By the Court of Quarter Sessions	122
J. M. Brush, Mayor of Pittsburgh	425
G.W. Nichols, Deputy Mayor of Pittsburgh	50
John Cartwright, Deputy Mayor of Pittsburgh	1
A. P. Callow, Mayor of Allegheny	199
G. M. Irwin, Deputy Mayor of Allegheny	23
Justices of the Peace	116
Total	936

Of the 241 prisoners in confinement on the 31st of December, 1871, there were one hundred and seventy-one white males, forty-two white females, twenty colored males, and seven colored females.

The pamphlet is further accompanied by reports from the Chaplain Rev. Wm. A. Fuller, and from the physician Dr. E. S. Hanna, which give detailed statements of the operations in each of their departments during the year.

The report is closed with statistical tables—a general summary of every department which would be useful for reference, but are somewhat too extended for reproduction here.

Throughout, this exhibit of the management of our Work House for the past year is interesting, and should receive the attention of all who would desire the success of our reformatory institutions.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT.

A Connellsville Constable Charged With Fraudulently Appropriating the Contents of a Money Package—He is Honorably Acquitted.

There was a hearing before Alderman Humbut yesterday in the case of the Commonwealth against George W. Foust, who was charged, on oath of a Mrs. McCormick, of this city, with embezzling the sum of twenty-five dollars from an express money package. The allegations of the prosecutrix were to the effect that she forwarded a package containing the amount already stated to Connellsville, by the Adams express. The package was addressed to "Mrs. Davis, in care of George W. Foust, Connellsville, Fayette county, Pa." The accused, it was alleged, broke open the pakage and appropriated the money to his own use.

At the hearing the accused was represented by R. M. Gibson, Esq. The prosecutrix, Mrs. McCormick, was called and sworn, when she testified that about a month ago she was called to Connellsville on business, and during her stay there she contracted a bill with Mrs. Davis for boarding; that upon her return to this city she raised the money and forwarded it to Mrs. D. by express; that she addressed the package to the care of the accused, and at the same time wrote a letter to Mrs. Davis, directing her to pay to Mr. Foust the sum of eight dollars, this amount being due him for services rendered in a matter which will be explained in subsequent testimony; that instead of delivering the money to Mrs. Davis, Mr. Foust kept the entire amount.

The witness was turned over to Mr. Gibson for cross-examination, when the following additional facts were elicited: During her stay in Connellsville Mrs. McCormick stopped at the Baltimore House, of which Mr. David Welsh is proprietor. She "ran a bill" on Mr. Welsh, and upon her departure she told that gentleman she would send him the amount as soon as she could raise it in Pittsburgh. The business that called her to Connellsville was this. She had a daughter residing there, who had prosecuted a man named Dull for seduction, and the witness was on hand to "see the thing through." Dull was arrested and jailed at Uniontown, and finally succeeded in obtaining his release by marrying the girl. Mr. Foust, the defendant, is constable at Connellsville, and he it was who arrested the man Dull. The costs in the case, after the compromise, were to have been paid by the prosecutrix.

For the defense David Welsh, proprietor of the Baltimore Hotel, was called. He testified that he accompanied Mr. Foust to the express office in Connellsville, when the money package was delivered to him; that the express agent, and not Mr. Foust, tore the package open; and that the accused signed the receipt book for the contents—$25. The witness, in addition to the bill for boarding against Mrs. McCormick, had "stood good" for the bill of costs in the case of her daughter against Dull. In return for his kindness, the prosecutrix said she would send money to liquidate these claims as soon as she could raise it. Mr Foust had also paid a number of bills, among others, the sum of $13 for his daughter, who was boarding at the house of Mrs. Davis. This, together with Foust's costs as constable in the case already referred to, and Welsh's bill, $7.50, swallowed up the contents of the money package.

Alderman Humbert decided that the prosecution had utterly failed to make out a case, and Mr. Foust was honorably discharged.

HYMENIAL.

Grand Fashionable Weddings.

The sombre season of Lent has not had a very chilling influence, so far on our local society; at least it has not very materially diminished the number of fashionable weddings. Within the past few days we have chronicled the marriage ceremonies of quite a number of happy young folks, and this morning we add to the list. The matrimonial event of the season was reserved for consummation at the Third Presbyterian Church on Sixth avenue, yesterday afternoon, and it proved in point of simple grandeur and brilliancy a happy and delightful success. The wedding had been the theme of conversation in society for a number of months owing to the large exchequer represented by both the fair bride and the gallant groom, Dame Rumor ran wild in fabulous stories as to what magnificent extravagance was to mark the ceremonies that were to make one through life to death the young and loving couple. The bride, was Alice W., second daughter of William H. Brown, Esq., universally crowned the "Coal King of Pennsylvania," and the wealthiest citizen in this section of country, and the joyful groom was the gallant Col. James M. Schoonmaker, who commanded, with marked bravery and conspicuous ability, the Fourteenth Pennsylvania Cavalry throughout the late war for the preservation of the Union. He occupies high place in public esteem, and is one of our most successful manufacturers. The couple are well and happily mated and start into a new sphere of life with golden promise and expectations.

THE CHURCH.

The beautiful church at the appointed hour, five o'clock, P. M., was brilliantly illuminated, hundreds of burning gas jets flooded its graceful auditorium and galleries in dazzling light, and promptly on time the doors were thrown open to the invited guests. Ere many minutes had elapsed Sixth avenue for several squares was blocked up with carriages carrying those who had been favored with the fragrant slips of card-board that gained them entry into the temple. The arrangements in the church for seating visitors were perfect, and the full dressed ushers displayed a fine appreciation of their duties, taking care of and providing seats for all alike. The audience numbered several hundred, and, fixing money as the standard, was a representative one of our wealthy city. At a few minutes before six o'clock the last guests had arrived and the ribbons were stretched down the aisles to the door to keep all willing prisoners in the pews, as a preparation for the advent of the bridal party, which was heralded close at hand by the entrance of the family friends of the contracting parties. A great deal of impatience was manifested as of course there was a delay in the arrival of the principal figures of the joyous occasion.

THE STREET.

While the people were awaiting in the church, and the grand old organ was being manipulated into musical gladness appropriate to the occasion, the avenue outside presented a lively appearance. Hundreds of costly vehicles with spirited horses, and by no means good humored drivers, crowded into each other and succeeded in becoming so entangled that great confusion followed. Added to this annoyance was that occasioned by the congregation of a large crowd of holiday idlers, who blocked up the sidewalks fronting the church, all awaiting the appearance of the bridal party to obtain a view of them. It was as much as the vigilant police officers could do to keep them from pressing past them into the church. When the party finally did arrive in carriages a roll of English stair carpet was laid from the pavement into the body of the church some twenty-five yards.

THE DRESS.

The dress of the bride, as usual, was what first attracted attention. She wore a heavy corded white satin dress with liberal train, and overskirt trimmed with very wide and costly real Brussels point lace, with a heading of jassamine and lilies of the valley, mixed with a narrow quilting of Brussels point edging, with pointed waist elaborately trimmed with lace and wax flowers. The bridal veil of plain illusion, was fastened to the head by a dazzling coronet of sparkling jewels, and flowed gracefully to the feet. The hair was dressed in neat style, and set off by a beautiful wreath of orange blossoms in wax. A diamond brooche and ear rings, white kid gloves and slippers, and delicate boquet of exotics finished the bridal dress. The maids, four in attendance, each accompanied by a groom, looked beautiful, being attired in fine tarleton dresses with flowing trails. The over-skirts were trimmed with plaitings and ruffles of the same material, and ornamented with pink flowers and running jessamine vines. In this connection we might add for the ladies only, that the bride's outfit cost in the neighborhood of thirteen thousand dollars. Fourteen dresses alone cost nearly five thousand dollars. All these elegant pieces of dress making formed an outfit worthy the liberality of a princess, and was the bride not one, since she is the "Coal King's" daughter? Mrs. Garrard of Wylie avenue was entrusted with the getting up of the entire wedding trousseau, and we candidly think she developed more exquisite taste and artistic workmanship than any of the foreign milliners to whom our aristocratic people generally confide their orders on such occasions. Home talent in this direction, as well as in most others, is as good as any found abroad at higher price for its exhibition. The attendant grooms were dressed in accordance with good taste, and the entire party presented a fine appearance.

THE CEREMONY.

When the party entered the organist struck up a brilliant and joyous wedding march, which was not completed until they had formed in a semi-circle at the desk. The solemn and impressive marriage ceremony of the Presbyterian Church was peformed by Rev. M. V. Schoonmaker, of Walden, N. Y., assisted by Rev. F. A. Noble, and the happy couple were pronounced man and wife through life to death. They have our heartiest congratulations. By the early train they left for Baltimore on a bridal tour, and return to hold a reception on the 19th proximo.

Brilliant Wedding on Mt. Washington.

One of the largest and most fashionable weddings that have marked the present year was that held last evening at the elegant suburban residence of Capt. Charles Gearing, at Mt. Washington, the occasion of the union of his highly accomplished daughter, Miss Nannie, to Capt. A. D. Milligan, an esteemed and prosperous merchant of this city. There were present several hundred guests, representing our best classes of society, and the arrangements for the occasion were only equalled in liberality by the cordial hospitality of the bride's parents. The bride was enrobed in a beautiful and rich white satin corded dress, with flowing trail, and profusely trimmed with real point lace, and twining vines of orange blossoms in wax. An exquisite lace veil was fastened to the hair by a diamond arrow, and gracefully flowed to the ground. There were no bridesmaids. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Costar, according to the beautiful rites of the Episcopal church. Mirth, music and dancing marked the happy occasion until the departure of the young couple for the East on their bridal tour. Our best wishes go out for them, and that they may never rue the pronounced words that made them man and wife in this life, is our earnest prayer.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

Adelia Robb having entered complaint before Alderman Taylor yesterday against the belligerent disposition of Patrick Ryan, the aforesaid P. R. was committed to jail and quietness till the 28th inst., when he is to hear further of his case.

Alderman McMasters issued a warrant yesterday commanding the presence of Mary Ann Bell, who has been formally recognized as belligerent by Jane Dunston; Jane asking the strong arm of the Alderman's law to protect her. As Jane and Mary Ann live together, naturally they cannot agree, hence the warrant. There appears to be two women at the bottom of this case.

A gilt-edged German named Chris. Gette was guilty of the impropriety of getting drunk day before yesterday, which was the cause of his being introduced to the popular police station of Diamond street. Upon searching his person a belt containing two hundred dollars in gold coin, a brace of gold watches and a small sum of greenbacks were found and properly cared for till yesterday when he received his treasures, from which he was required to deduct $4,25 for the benefit of an offended community, represented by his Honor the Mayor. Upon being released Chris. immediately started for the west to try farming a la H. G.

That hardened character, Harry Steely, was yesterday morning provided with a season ticket for ninety days, as a proper testimonial of the estimation in which his confirmed cussedness is held by Mayor Blackmore.

Davy Jones was sent to the locker for thirty days as a result of asserting his independence as an American citizen in whisky and and vile conduct.

The usual goal was gained by William Diehl for thirty days, by his unseemly conduct in disregarding the public proprieties so far as to bring his case within the jurisdiction of the police court yesterday.

Before Alderman Strain Joan Donnelly charged Ann O'Hern with disorderly conduct, alleging that the accused did apply to her various vile and opprobrious epithets. Hearing to-day.

The same magistrate issued a warrant for the arrest of John Hartman, of Allegheny, who is accused, on oath of M. W. Welch, of stealing a lot of stone mason's tools. There is, of course, another side to the case, and a hearing may demonstrate that the defendant has not committed the offense charged.

The two boys who had been under arrest, charged with having turbulently interrupted the services in the Eighteenth Street Methodist Church, of East Birmingham, were on Wednesday evening discharged by Burgess Jones for want of evidence to convict them.

John Moffat has been committed to jail by Burgess Jones, of East Birmingham, on a charge of malicious mischief, preferred by John Moffat.

BREVITIES.

THE military made a fine show yesterday.

NOTHING NEW in regard to the Semple robbery.

NO FLAG visible on City Hall yesterday. Shame.

VERY few flags were thrown to the breeze yesterday.

PUBLIC MEETING at City Hall on Saturday afternoon.

JUDGE STOWE will have no opposition for re-election.

SEVERAL more old citizens have died within the last week.

COUNCILS hold their regular semi-monthly meeting next week.

MARRIAGES are on the increase since the small-pox scare has died out.

J. M. MCCOLLOUGH, ESQ., is the Superintendent of 3,200 miles of railroad.

COL. BAYNE feels good and thinks he has a nice plum, if the amended fee bill becomes a law.

SEVERAL bank clerks spent yesterday playing marbles with newsboys in the postoffice yard.

GEN. SHERIDAN who has been east for a few days, passed through Pittsburgh on Wednesday on his way to Chicago.

COUNTERFEITING invitation cards to church weddings is the latest. It was well done yesterday, in fact done up Brown.

JUDGING from the the way Pittsburghers kept yesterday, George Washington is no better than any other man in their estimation.

SEVERAL young ladies and gentlemen were sadly disappointed in not getting a "bid" to the Schoonmaker-Brown wedding yesterday.

THE agents for the different sewing machines in this city are first class, wide awake business men, especially those who advertise.

THE S. P. Hose Company of East Birmingham displayed a fine flag from their carriage house yesterday, in honor of the Father of his Country.

MESSRS. Oliver and Chalfant, of Pittsburgh, and McNeill and Davis, of Allegheny, returned yesterday from Cincinnati, where they have been attending the River Improvement Convention.

THE Democracy of Washington county, at their recent convention, instructed their delegates to the State Convention at Reading, to cast their ballots in favor of R. M. Gibson, Esq., of this city, as the Democratic candidate for Governor.

THE wife and children of James W. Street are anxious to learn of his whereabouts. When last heard from, 15th January, he was in Cairo, whither he went from this place on the tug Storm No. 3. His family reside on Cliff street in this city.

QUITE a number of people on the streets yesterday appeared to be taking a holiday, notwithstanding the fact it was Washington's Birthday. Though it may be said in explanation that Washington did not prevail in Pittsburgh to an alarming extent.

IT is hard to please everybody. Yesterday a man and a team and a load of straw stopped for a few moments between two wagons on a leading thoroughfare. There everybody that came along with a wagon stopped too and asked in tones of ungentle familiarity, what in —— they were all doing there. After the wagons moved away there didn't appear to be any cause for trouble there anyhow.

AT HALF PAST five o'clock yesterday morning a lamp in Swoger's Restaurant, Allegheny market house, exploded and set fire to the floor of the room. The fire was extinguished, however, after some trouble, and with but little loss. This is the second accident of a similar character that has occurred in this place within the past ten days, and the query arises whether it would not be better for the proprietor of that establishment to dispense with the use of the "non—explosive," and save the city the expense of building a new market house.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON when the Zouaves with their brass drums went parading up Fifth avenue in their flannel pantaloons a horse with an express wagon attached to one end of him and a cast-iron weight to the other, started waltzing around in a frantic manner, as though bent on manufacturing an item of interest. But just before he shoved the vehicle through the nearest show window he was arrested in his fantastic festivities, the show window remaining unshattered, while the spectators turned sadly away to seek consolation in the red flannel of the Zouaves for disappointment in the averted catastrophe.

The Florence Sewing Machine.

The subject of Sewing Machines in general, and of particular kinds of machines, has been much hackneyed in the papers. One of the results is that more machines have been sold in Pittsburgh than in any equal population elsewhere in the world. There are now in this market fifteen or sixteen different kinds of sewing machines. Of these several have become quite popular, and possess real merit. The Florence has but recently established an agency here, and already its extraordinary merits are much spoken of, and it bids fair to become as much a favorite as it is throughout New England, where its reputation for special excellence surpasses all others.

Its great popularity where it is longest and best known is justly owing to its intrinsic superiority to most, if not all others. Of what other machine, even the best of them all, can it be claimed as it is claimed of the Florence?

That it is the most perfect in mechanical construction of any in the world.

That it is not liable to get out of order.

That it makes three more kinds of stitch than any other.

That it has a reverse feed motion with tension of thread, self-adjusting.

That it changes for the various stitches while in motion.

That its stitches are the wonder of all for beauty and finish.

That no other covers so large a range of work.

That it sews light and heavy fabrics with equal facility.

That none sews more rapidly or runs more quietly.

That no difficulty is experienced in sewing across thick seams.

In which the needle is more readily adjustible.

That its motions are all positive.

That it will last a life-time.

That it has no springs to get out of order.

That the Hemmer turns wide or narrow hems and will fell beautifully.

That the most inexperienced will find it easy to use it.

That all its machinery being on the top of the table, it oils no dresses.

That the company warrants the machine to substantiate all they claim for it.

With so many and such special points of excellence, and with its fine record wherever it has become known, it is not surprising that it has so quickly become a formidable rival of all others, and is likely to surpass all others in popular estimation here as well as elsewhere; it is in corroboration of all this that the company are running their factory day and night and must enlarge their works to keep up with the growing demand. Make room for the Florence; it must come; nothing can stay its progress; it fights its own battles and goes in to win. The depot for the Florence Machine is at No. 8 Sixth street, and Messrs. Heckert & McCain, the agents, will be found very accommodating and reliable gentlemen to deal with.

INTERESTING PRESENTATION.

EDITORS GAZETTE: A handsome and valuable gold watch and chain was presented to J. D. Sauters, Esq., the efficient and courteous Postmaster of Upper St. Clair, on Monday evening, by the members of Post 269 of the Grand Army of the Republic, combined with the Odd Fellows of Temple Lodge No. 787. The presentation speech was made in a felicitous manner by Dr. J. E. Wilson, who paid strong tribute to the worth and excellence of the recipient. Mr. Sauters responded in an eloquent and happy style, accepting the gift with heartfelt gratitude. A neat speech was also made on the occasion by John Espy, Esq., and very fine music by the talented Sodom String Band enlivened the occasion. At a late hour the party separated, after spending a very pleasant and agreeable evening.

FARMER.

THE Superior City Times says: "Rev. Father Chebul, who started on foot three weeks ago, from Bayfield, for the purpose of visiting the Indians at Lac Courte Orielle, Great Bend, Chippewa Falls, Wabano, &c., safely returned by way of St. Paul last Wednesday night, after a weary journey of over two hundred miles on foot and snow shoeing. He christened from forty to fifty Indians, ratified twenty or thirty marriages, and preached twenty-six different times in the Chippewa language, and once in the English at the Chippewa Falls. He expsesses himself highly delighted with his trip."
